SMASH TO VICTORY PLEDGED BY F. D.

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (INS)—President Roosevelt, in a fighting speech before the 78th Congress, today pledged to the American people that the Axis and Fascist enemies in Europe and Japan will be bombed and smashed in their own countries.

"The Nazis and the Fascists have asked for it—and they are going to get it," the President declared, adding that while he could not for military reasons disclose where the United Nations would strike next in Europe, "we are going to strike—and strike hard."

While he said he would "not prophesy when this war will end," Mr. Roosevelt asserted that this Congress, with its two-year span, "may have the historic privilege of helping greatly to save the world from future fear."

The President declared that the growing American might "will become evident to the Japanese people themselves when we strike at their own home islands, and bomb them constantly from the air."

For rthe United States forces, the President said that the period of defensive action in the Pacific is passing and "now our aim is to force the Japanese to fight.

The Chief Executive disclosed that there are now 1,500,000 United States soldiers, sailors, marines and fliers in service in foreign areas. During 1942, he related, the American armed forces grew in size from 2,000,000 to 7,000,000 men and officers.

Turning his attention to the domestic front, Mr. Roosevelt told Congress and the nation that "our forward progress in this war has depended upon our progress on the production front."

The President asserted that the 1942 goals of war production were met for the most part, although "some people, including some experts, thought that we had pulled some big figures out of a hat just to frighten the Axis."

During the year, the President disclosed, the United States produced 48,000 military planes—more than the airplane production of the Axis—56,000 tanks and other combat vehicles, 670,000 machine guns, 21,000 anti-tank guns, ten and a quarter billion rounds of small arms ammunition, and 181,000,000 rounds of artillery ammunition.

"The arsenal of democracy is making good," the President stated.

The text of President Roosevelt's message follows:

Mr. Vice-President, Mr. Speaker, members of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

The 78th Congress assembles in one of the great moments in the history of the nation. The past year was perhaps the most crucial for modern civilization; the coming year will be filled with violent conflict—yet with high promise of better things.

We must appraise the events of 1942 according to their relative importance; we must exercise a sense of proportion.

First in importance in the American scene has been the inspiring proof of the great qualities of our fighting men. They have demonstrated these qualities in adversity as well as in victory.

As long as our flag flies over this Capitol, Americans will honor the soldiers, sailors and marines who fought our first battles of this war against overwhelming odds—the heroes, living and dead, of Wake and Bataan and Guadalcanal, of the Java sea and Midway

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
Speaks to Congress

GOVERNOR'S 3D TERM INAUGURAL SIMPLE

Amid ceremonies recalling ancient formalities but simplified owing to the war emergency, Gov. Saltonstall was scheduled to be sworn in for his third term at the State House this afternoon.

His inaugural address to members of the General Court was expected to stress the need of a legislative performance bent on hastening the successful end of the war, through measures promoting the war effort and economies which will help the state and its people meet the rising costs of the world conflict.

Cannon salutes, floral tributes and festivities which used to make the inaugural exercises a social occasion are lacking, but an invited list of state officials, justices and the membership of both houses of the legislature was reminiscent of traditional pageantry.

FIRST IN THIRD TERM

The House of Representatives, largest chamber in the capitol building, was chosen as the scene for the ceremonies. Gov. Saltonstall is the first man in the history of the state to enter a third term, since the two-year system was established.

Over all the proceedings was at atmosphere of war urgency, visibly apparent in the numerous legislators and officials in military uniform. This spirit was evident when the 153d legislature convened and saw its leaders elected and sworn into office by the Governor in a three-hour period.

HUNT PRESIDENT

Jarvis Hunt of Attleboro was chosen Senate president and Rep. Rudolph King of Millis Speaker of the House. Both called for prompt, non-partisan action in enacting war legislation.

Rep. Frederick B. Wills of Saugus was named Republican floor leader in the House, Rep. Michael J. Neville of Cambridge Democratic leader. Sen. Joseph F. Francis of Fairhaven is G. O. P. leader in the Senate, while William E. Nolen of Holyoke was chosen Democratic leader after a contest.

Nazis Say Sub Travels Mississippi

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The German radio, in a broadcast beamed to the United States but heard here, reported today that a German submarine had traveled 90 miles up the Mississippi river "to within a few miles of New Orleans" in the hope of destroying a bridge.

The raider was detected, however, and forced to return to the Gulf of Mexico, the broadcast declared.

RAF Bombers Again Batter Burma Japs

NEW DELHI, Jan. 7 (AP)—RAF bombers made new attacks yesterday on Japanese positions in the Rathidaung area of Burma, north of Akyab on the Arakan coast, inflicting casualities and causing damage to enemy occupied buildings, a British communique reported today.

A Japanese gunpost near Akyab was destroyed and several small craft were damaged along the Bay of Bengal shore in other forays, chiefly by fighters, it said.

JAP SHIP SUNK OFF KISKA

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—American bombers, at work to make the Japanese occupation of Kiska as expensive as possible, bombed two Japanese vessels in Aleutian waters Tuesday and Wednesday, sinking one and scoring a direct hit on the other.

The Navy's 242d communique of the war said Mitchell medium bombers (North American P-25's) attacked a cargo ship 110 miles northeast of Kiska Tuesday. It added that the ship "was later seen to sink."

Yesterday, the same communique said, a Liberator heavy bomber (Consolidated B-24) scored a direct hit and two near hits "on an enemy ship 185 miles southwest of Kiska."

REDS GAIN 50 MILES IN SWEEP DOWN DON

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Red army of the lower Don has broken through German lines on a 20-mile front on both sides of the river and has driven within 75 miles of Rostov, key to the whole Nazi salient into the Caucasus, the Russians announced today.

Dispatches said the Russians, commanded by Lieut.-Gen. Constantin Rokossovsky, veteran of the Battle of Moscow, had pushed forward 50 miles since capturing the Don bridgehead of Tsimlyansk two days ago.

The advanced point the Russian thrust was said to have reached yesterday was Bolshaya Orlovka on the Sal river, southwest of its Don confluence midway between Tsimlyansk and Rostov.

Recaptured in the sweep down the Don were the town of Marinsk, 25 miles below Tsimlyansk, and the villages of Kargalsko-Belianskey, Kamishevskaya, Yasirev and Kholodny.

There the Russian offensive was rolling into the low-lying region which stretches past Rostov to the Don on the Sea of Azov.

Rostov, whose fall would cut off the whole German army in the Caucasus, already has changed hands three times. It was taken by the Germans late in 1941, won back quickly by the Russians, and captured by the Germans last summer.

Deep in the Caucasus the Germans were in retreat from the Mozdok - Nalchik - Prokhadnenski triangle but battle front dispatches said there was no indication they were attempting a general withdrawal to escape being cut off.

Russian forces were said to be meeting resistance after a swift sweep 25 miles northwest of Prokhladnenski to Apolonskaya.

This 25-mile advance indicated a Russian gain of 55 miles since the fall of Nalchik Monday.

Earlier war bulletins brought the total of Axis dead and captured since the start of the Russian winter offensive to 339,150 up to Jan. 5.

These communiques had reported 13 more towns and two railroad stations in the Caucasus recaptured, with eight towns in the middle Don.

RUSSIA—Red army of the lower Don has pierced Nazi lines on a 20-mile front and thrust to within 75 miles of Rostov, key to the whole Nazi salient in the Caucasus. The advanced point reached by the Soviets was Bolshaya Orlovka between Tsimlyansk and Rostov.

Weeping Mothers Tramp City for Oil

Suffering spread through the city today, some range oil dealers closed down and hundreds of women and children tramped the streets in despair, seeking vainly for oil—while officials announced arrival of a scant 30,000 gallons, a mere drop in the bucket.

NO HEAT—Lack of oil forces police at the North End station to carry on their duties at Division 8 . . . and here, Officer John T. Hommel carries an important file from the fuelless station.

The shipment was said to be a "token" part of a million-gallon emergency allotment released by Washington and due to be delivered in full by the end of this week.

But where the 30,000 "token" gallons went, or any part of them, desperate householders could not find out, though they and their children were making weary rounds with cans carried on sleds and in baby carriages.

WEEPING MOTHERS PLEAD

Fuel-less homes, sick youngsters, war-working husbands gone to their jobs in the same wet clothes they removed at home last night and were unable to dry because of no heat—all marked today in sections of the city.

One variety store keeper in Roxbury, Nicholas Matthews of Marcella st., said he had 270 gallons yesterday and it was gone in two hours, with women and children crying today in his store because he had no more.

As the situation grew tense, Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell characterized the oil situation at Washington as "chaotic" and declared she will move for "a well-coordinated Department of Petroleum with a single administrator."

ALL N. E. HIT

All New England, she said, is suffering and she appealed to her colleagues in the New England delegation for help in the crisis which threatens wholesale evacuation from homes.

"This chaotic situation is inexcusable," she declared.

Meanwhile, as officials continued to press for conversion of oil heaters to coal, there came word that the outlaw strike of 12,000 miners in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields is sharply curtailing outgoing shipments of hard coal, with a definite shortage of anthracite also in prospect.

While some few families in the North, West and South Ends, in Roxbury and Dorchester and Mattapan had oil enough for today hundreds of others had none at all and have had none for from one to three and four days.

DEALERS CLOSE

As a reporter and cameraman traversed Roxbury they met a small army of men, woman and children out looking for oil, but looking without success.

Even some of the dealers who supply house-to-house pedlars closed today, giving up hope of receiving immediate supplies and

AUTOPSY TO REVEAL HOW SISTERS DIED

In a double autopsy at Southern Mortuary, Medical Examiner Timothy Leary today sought to penetrate the mystery veiling the deaths by cold and exposure of two aged sisters, the Misses Mary L. Howlett, 93, and Alice Howlett, 86, of Hyde Park ave., Hyde Park.

He gave the cold as the immediate cause of their deaths, but did not blame the fuel shortage. Both of the old ladies were known to be of considerable means, but frugal, and by choice had refused to employ help or make their homes with relatives.

Neighbors, concerned over not seeing the sisters for two days, called police, and Patrolman John Kearney discovered them dead, huddled near a kitchen stove on the first floor. A gas burner in the oven was lighted, but giving insufficient heat to warm their big house.

It was reported that the spinsters had been "at odds" for some years and lived on separate floors. Upstairs police found a coal stove, the fire out. Dr. Leary expressed the opinion one sister died as much as 24 hours before the other.

Both old ladies were beloved by children and adults alike as humanitarians. They were especially kind to stray animals.

Three dogs, enfeebled by age and the cold, three cats and a pigeon were found in the house.

OIL FAMINE HITS NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (INS)—Reminiscent of the "heatless Mondays" of World War I, thousands of office and factory workers in New York today performed their jobs huddled in overcoats as hundreds of buildings in the city ran out of fuel oil.

With the present fuel crisis threatening to grow worse instead of better, managers of hundreds of other oil-heated buildings ordered reduced temperatures to conserve meager supplies.

Following on the heels of the news from Washington that all but residences would be given a 25 per cent cut in fuel oil allotments, major oil companies in the city announced that their stocks had been depleted to dangerously low levels.

The situation extended down to the retail distributors, 20 per cent of which reported their tanks were dry while the remainder said they had just enough fuel on hand to take care of preferential users such as hospitals and similar institutions.

Warning of still further restrictions come from Washington with distinct possibilities including closing of churches, and schools,

James McIntyre, of the Animal Rescue League, is shown with the pigeon, one of the three cats, and two of the three dogs taken from the Hyde Park home of Mary Howlett, 93, and her sister, Alice, 86, both of whom were found dead of cold and exposure huddled near a kitchen stove.

GANG TRIAL DATE SET

Three men charged with the murder in November, 1941, of Anthony Pomo, payroll robber and gang fingerman, will face trial in Suffolk Superior Court a week from Monday, according to an announcement today by Dist. Atty. Foley.

They are: Joseph Semenza, 28, Salvatore "Zip" Venuti, 31, and Joseph DeMarco, 24, all of the North End.

Alphonso Penta, of Henchman st., North End, in whose apartment Pomo is alleged to have been shot and stabbed to death, pleaded guilty to four indictments last Nov. 13, it was learned today, and is being held in Charles st. jail. It is believed he will be a state's witness.

A fifth defendant, Joe "Little Bozo" Cortese, 29, of Parmenter st., North End, has never been apprehended.

Pomo, according to police, was lured from his home in the South End to North End apartment, where he was shot and then stabbed 40 times. His body, covered by a sheet, was carried by his slayers down Henchman st., across Commercial st. to Fisk wharf and thrown into the harbor.

The killing, according to police, was the result of a gang feud in a lottery robbery.

2 WESTWOOD SCHOOLS FIRED

WESTWOOD, Jan. 7—Fires apparently set by a firebug today damaged the new $180,000 Westwood High School and the Colburn grammar school and investigations were launched by police and fire officials.

The more serious fire was set in Colburn school and resulted in $1000 damage to a first-floor classroom. Firemen discovered two other fires on the second floor after extinguishing the first blaze. All three were started by piling school materials in the center of classrooms.

Only a few hours after the Colburn fire, Principal Edward Lord of the high school reported an attempt to burn the building had failed when a heap of flaming easels in the art room burned out without spreading.

Both buildings were closed.

JAP ZEROS IN FIRST ATTACK FROM NEW MUNDA AIRFIELD

By WILLIAM HIPPLE

GUADALCANAL, Jan. 3 (Delayed) (AP)—The Japs made the first effective use yesterday of their new Munda airfield on New Georgia island, sending a fleet of Zeros to escort 10 destroyers which tried with little success to reinforce and supply the enemy's troops on Guadalcanal.

The Zeros, outnumbering the Grumman Wildcat fighter planes which were sent out with dive-bombers from the Americans' Henderson Field on Guadalcanal to intercept the destroyers, shot down two Grummans and wounded the pilot of another. One Zero was lost.

Munda, in the central Solomons, has been raided repeatedly since scouts discovered some time ago an airfield was being built there, and on Jan. 5, after Hipple's dispatch was written and perhaps as a result of the facts it relates, the field was bombarded heavily by a Navy force.

Two of ten destroyers were damaged. The enemy units first were sighted by Flying Fortresses yesterday while they were still 240 miles northwest of Guadalcanal. The destroyers threw up a curtain of anti-aircraft fire, spread and twisted, so our Fortresses were unable to bomb them successfully.

At this time, presumably, the air escort from Munda had not yet joined the enemy surface units.

Douglas Dauntless dive-bombers then attacked at 6 p. m., scoring hits on two destroyers and a near miss on another.

Motor torpedo (PT) boats attacked and harassed the enemy ships, but results were not observed.

Early this morning U. S. fighter planes fired a large amount of Jap supplies which had washed ashore at the northwest tip of Guadalcanal.

Three Rommel Planes Downed

CAIRO, Jan. 7 (AP)—The lull in the pursuit of Marshal Rommel across Libya is persisting, the British headquarters communique reported today, with only patrol activity to report from the ground forces and a slight increase in air activity.

"The enemy attempted one or two fighter-bomber attacks, causing but little damage," the war bulletin said. "Three ME-109's were shot down by our ground fire."

Another Allied attack Tuesday night on the enemy-held Tunisian port of Sousse, it said, started fires on railway sidings and the waterfront.

The communique said Allied planes also carried out offensive operations yesterday over Sicily and Lampedusa island, stepping stones in the enemy air transport route from Europe to North Africa. It said two Allied planes were missing.

MUD SLOWS GUINEA FIGHT

By WILLIAM F. BONI

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Jan. 7 (AP)—Allied and Japanese patrols probed in swamp mud today for weak spots in the opposite lines as the Allies regrouped their land forces for an attack on the enemy stronghold at Sananda.

American troops pushed back one Japanese patrol in the vicinity of Tarakena, a village midway between the recently won Buna Station and Sanananda Point. They killed one Japanese and wounded another.

All patrols reported the swamps extremely deep and heavy, making the approaches to almost all enemy entrenchments most difficult.

The bombardment and strafing of the Sanananda Point area, however, continued for its third successive day while the enemy base at Lae, again was hit by United States A-20 Havoc attack bombers and by Billy Mitchell B-25 medium bombers. The Havocs attacked from less than 100 feet and poured in thousands of rounds of machinegun fire, knocking out four anti-aircraft batteries and destroying some bombers on the ground.

NAZIS SWITCH AFRICA CHIEFS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 7 (AP)—Another change in German military leadership was reported today by dispatches from Berlin which said that Gen. Walther Nehring had been superseded by Col. Gen. von Arnim as Axis commander in Tunisia.

The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, who reported the change, described Von Arnim as "one of Hitler's favorite panzer commanders," but offered no comment.

Another Swedish newspaper, the Dagens Nyheter, said the weekly German newsreel had shown the Bey of Tunis receiving Von Arnim.

British sources identified the general as Juergen von Arnim, 52-year-old Silesian, but said there was no confirmation that he had succeeded Nehring, who is regarded as still in high favor with Hitler and depended upon, with Rommel, to conduct the African campaign. Von Arnim was reported severely wounded in the invasion of Russia.

Von Arnim, recently raised to the rank of colonel-general, is comparatively little known outside Germany.

The extent to which German reserves of manpower are being strained was indicated, meanwhile, by a Dagens Nyheter dispatch from Berlin saying that all available members of Hitler's brown-shirted Nazi party were being called up for two months of winter war exercises.

Elite Guard officers fresh from the Russian front will give instruction in marching, shooting and hand grenade throwing.

Coincidentally the Elite Guard organ, Schwarze Korps, has declared that "belief in a fast, cheap victory was given up in 1942" and said the nation should "realize the danger threatening."

GERMANS RECAPTURE HILLS FROM BRITISH NEAR MATEUR

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Reu's reported from Allied headquarters in North Africa today the Gnans had recaptured positions on both sides of an important crossids west of Mateur.

The heights, 15 miles west of Mateur, which is 20 miles southwest of Bizerte, had been captured the day before by British infantry and Commandos.

CBS Correspondent Charles Collingwood identified the lost positions as including the key heights of Jebel Azzag, which a headquarters communique yesterday announced had been taken by the Allies. He said United States Rangers participated in the attack.

"German counter attacks took the topmost heights away from the Allied defenders," Collingwood reported. "Fighting went on all day but by night the position was decided to be untenable and the Commandos and Rangers went back to positions from which they had started."

The British agency quoted the German radio as reporting 30 United States parachutists were dropped behind German North African lines Sunday night, with orders to blow up a large bridge. The broadcast, Reuter's said, declared 20 of the parachutists were killed and the rest captured with "a great quantity" of explosives.

In the police lineup, Fischetti said he didn't know it was compulsory to register, and thought it merely was a question of "volunteering."

Intern Bishop As Enemy Alien

William Gerald Bishop, who claimed to be a Salem native and son of a Boston mining engineer, was en route to an internment camp for the war's duration today after having been declared an enemy alien in federal court in New York.

Federal Judge John W. Clancy ruled that Bishop, who was acquitted in 1940 of conspiracy to overthrow the government, had failed to prove his claim of American citizenship.

Bishop said his mother, an English subject, took him to Canada as an infant, and subsequently to Europe. He said he was interned in Austria during World War I.

MEDFORD MAN WEARS DSC

Cited for extraordinary heroism in action, Col. John J. Carew, of George st., Medford, a veteran of three wars and and a former Medford city official, today wore the Distinguished Service Cross, awarded by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, a cable from Australia announced.

Col. Carew

Col. Carew's award was made for his leadership and courage in saving the lives of several men trapped in a small boat set afire by Jap planes off Cape Sudest, New Guinea, on Nov. 16.

He organized a volunteer crew to man a lifeboat, helped row the craft to the burning ship and, despite repeated bombings and strafings and exploding ammunition on the ship, supervised the rescue of its crew.

A commanding officer in the Engineers Corp., Col. Carew was formerly sealer of weights and measures and inspector of health and milk in Medford. He served two terms as president of the state association of sealers of weights and measures

He saw service as a private and sergeant on the Mexican boarder, and in World War I became a lieutenant in France and took part in four major engagements.

Twice wounded in action he was cited for distinguished action. At war's end he was commissioned lieutenant in the 101st Engineers, and was made a colonel in 1936.

2d Fire Razes Lowell Ruins; State in Probe

LOWELL, Jan. 7—The plant of the Omaha Packing Co., where a three-alarm fire yesterday caused panic among 50 employes, sending 13 persons to hospitals with burns and injuries, was virtually destroyed early today when the fire rekindled.

As a result of the second blaze, State Fire Marshal Stephen C. Garrity was called into the case.

Firemen from Dracut, Billerica and Chelmsford aided when a general alarm was sounded for today's fire which broke out, as did yesterday's, on the third floor, where the smokehouse is located, and burned through the fourth floor and the roof.

While tons of water were being poured into the flaming structure, situated in Market st., directly across from police headquarters, the roof collapsed and timbers broke through to the second and first floors.

An unidentified soldier discovered today's blaze. Police had the station blackout shades down and could not see the flames.

While fire walls saved the adjoining paint plants of the C. B. Coburn Co. and the Wadsworth-Howland Co. from the flames, these firms suffered damage.

Ten persons remained in hospitals today.

Of 13 persons injured, the most seriously hurt were Theresa Quigley, 16, of Laurel ave., Billerica; Barbara Olszewski, 47, of Lakeview ave.; Walter Pauewskas, 45, of Lawrence ave.; Stasia Sczko, 48, of Lakeview ave.; Leah Millard, 33, of Ward st., and Anthony Czeninski, 64, of Jewett st.

EDGAR DICKSON DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 (AP) — Edgar J. Dickson, 70, formerly general manager of street railways in Buffalo, N. Y., and Providence, R. I., was dead today. Funeral services wil be held tomorrow.

'GIVE JAPAN TIME AND MAKE HER INVINCIBLE,' GREW WARNS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7 (AP)—Time is the most dangerous weapon we can give Japan, former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew said here. Unless that weapon can be knocked out of the enemy's hands—unless the United Nations do much more than merely "stop" Japan, the Empire of Hirohito may become truly invincible, he said.

"Merely stopping the Japanese will not defeat the Japanese," Grew asserted in an address at the United War Chest dinner here. "The warfare of attrition can not be decisive when the enemy has all the elements of autarchy. We cannot beat Japanese by a deadlock in which they get stronger."

The Japan which Americans are fighting today, the former ambassador emphasized, is "an enormous, rich and really powerful country."

Its sea communications make of the Japanese Empire "an immense, immobile and unmovable fleet—a fleet larger than the mind of man has ever dreamed of building—anchored forever close to the coast of Asia. Islands are unsinkable aircraft carriers, and Japan is all islands."

Within the perimeter of her recent conquests—which include the Philippines, the Netherlands East Indies, Indo-China, Thailand, Burma and Malaya—Japan has "everything which a great power needs," Grew pointed out; therefore merely "stopping" her would leave her immensely strong.

But "the Japanese need one commodity which we can still deny them. This commodity, the basic stuff of human life, is the most precious of all. It is time. Time to consolidate conquests.

"We and our Allies have already smashed against the gimcrack empire of Adolf Hitler; our United Nations forces in the Don Basin, in North Africa, in the British Isles and the European air are denying Hitler the time he needs to cement together the monstrous oligarchy he has imposed on Europe.

"We must, we shall, we will combine our denial of time to Hitler with a denial of time to Japan."

Writer Tells Of Yule Call On Japs

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
Boston American Staff Correspondent

WITH THE U. S. ARMY AIR FORCES, GUADALCANAL, Dec. 25 (Delayed) (INS)—This morning the Flying Fortresses gave Tojo some appropriate presents.

I had the pleasure of witnessing the delivery of some of these packages, marked "open on arrival," at Munda Bay airport, New Georgia.

The presents were more than 100 vicious, tearing fragmentation bombs, dropped at the spot where the Japs are making a determined effort to plant an airport base, only 160 flying miles from Guadalcanal.

HEAVIER BOMBS

Other presents, heavier bombs, carried by other bombers, simultaneously went to Rabaul Harbor, sank a fat supply ship there. It was the first time planes from Guadalcanal have attacked that area, 600 miles away.

At Munda I watched the bombs flash along and across the runway, in the bunkers where the Japs keep their Zeros, in the bivouac area where the Japs live. We wreathed the Jap airport in flashing, explosive lights. We made a Christmas tree out of their airdrome.

Before he dropped, Lieut. Robert J. Jones of Atlanta, Ga., bombardier in the plane which I rode, said:

"Those bombs are vicious. They're like machine-gun bullets. They'll slaughter 'em."

Everyone in our crew hoped that slaughter was the present we dropped for the Japs. It was a silent, grim crew. No one sang "Silent Night" or said any of the obvious things about the fact that this was Christmas morning.

It was another night's work for the bomber crew, but our cheery pilot, middle-aged Capt. James H. York of McAllen, Tex., and Bombardier Jones wanted to make it a particularly good night's work, to kill as many Japs as possible.

PILOTED PLANE LOW

Capt. York piloted our plane low over the Jap airport, trying to rouse some Zeros, but none came up, although the Japs did give us some anti-aircraft fire.

The bombers coming back from Rabaul told careful, factual stories of their success. Maj. Walter F. Lucas of Stockville, Miss., who led the flight, with Capt. Vincent M. Crane, of Manchester, Mass., second in command, said:

"We bombed at about 3:30. We got three direct hits on a combination Ak and Ap (freighter-transport), and three very close misses. Both rows of bombs cut right across the ship. We saw sparks and debris fly from the ship and the flashes of the bombs were dull red, telling us they were right on.

"At about six o'clock, on the way back, we sighted a four engined flying boat and dived on him. We killed his tail gunner—or rather, Sergt. Nelson (of Fergus Falls, Minn.), our waist gunner, did that—and hit one of his engines. He peeled off and dived straight down through the clouds."

WICKARD BOARDS TO GRAPPLE FOOD SHORTAGE EMERGENCY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (INS)—In his first recognition of the series of critical local food shortages that have been reported throughout the nation, Food Administrator Wickard today set about establishing food industry committees to solve food problems.

The committees, Wickard said, will be responsible for providing food wherever a shortage occurs and for striking at the roots of the problem by correcting the specific causes of local shortages.

Each committee will be set up within 10 days, he pledged.

With the armed forces and lend-lease taking more and more of America's food, and with the people at home in the midst of a war prosperity, local shortages of meats, dairy products and other commodities have sprung up in many American communities, agriculture experts admitted.

The situation has been especially serious in war-swollen cities where distribution systems were taxed by populations beyond normal, it was reported.

Detroit, Boston, Washington, D. C., and several West Coast cities, where war work or government is now the main industry, have felt serious shortages of some products, especially beef, butter, milk and eggs.

Milk Replacing Rum In British Navy

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The modern Royal Navy is turning more and more from rum to milk.

The Navy reported today only 40 per cent of its sailors now take their rum ration, compared with 65 per cent in 1924, 88 per cent in 1913 and 91 per cent in 1850.

It said 24,000,000 cans of condensed milk were supplied to the fleet in recent months.

Axis Chains 300 in Greek Terror Wave

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 7 (AP)—Greek officials announced today that 300 Greeks, including generals, other officers and civilians, had been transported to Italy in chains from Axis-occupied Greece.

On information received from Greece, these officials said guerilla activities in that country had brought a fresh wave of terrorism from the Italian-occupying authorities.

ICC Reopens Hearings On Railroad Fare Boost

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today reopened for further hearing the proceedings under which it granted the railroads increased rates, fares and charges early last year.

The commission said it would hear oral arguments, without briefs, as soon as practicable after the additional evidence has been presented before a panel comprising Commrs. Clyde B. Aitchison, Charles D. Mahaffie and Walter M. W. Splawn. The hearing will be opened in the commission headquarters Feb. 2.

Requests for reopening the proceedings have been received from several government agencies as well as organizations which use the railroads.

A 10 per cent increase in passenger fares was granted effective Feb. 10 and shortly thereafter the ICC also permitted increases in freight rates estimated to average about six per cent.

These increases were based upon the specific claim that they were necessary to offset the cost of pay raises of arcund 10 cents an hour awarded to more than 1,000,000 railroad workers on Dec. 1, 1941.

The prospect of further demands for wage boosts already is confronting the railroads. Heads of the 15 non-operating unions decided in September to ask a 20 cents an hour increase for their 900,000 members and the leaders of the five operating brotherhoods agreed on Dec. 9 to seek a 30 per cent increase for 350,000 members.

LOWELL RITES AT HARVARD

Funeral of Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president emeritus of Harvard University, will be held Saturday at 11 a. m., with services in Memorial Church, Harvard.

Hundreds of messages of condolences, including a tribute from President Roosevelt, were received today following death of Harvard's 24th president at his Back Bay home. Dr. Lowell, 87, had been in failing health for some time.

"I mourn with you and with all Harvard men the passing of a great figure in the life of the university," President Roosevelt said in his message to Harvard President James B. Conant. "As administrator, as author, and as citizen and publicist, Dr. Lowell served many and varied causes with fidelity and distinction. His long life was singularly well rounded and complete."

Dr. Lowell served as Harvard's 24th president from 1909 to 1933, succeeding Dr. Charles W. Eliot. During his quarter-century of guiding the university, the student body grew from less than 4000 to 8000 and endowments increased from $23,000,000 to $123,415,000.

Dr. Crile, Pioneer In Transfusion, Dies

CLEVELAND, Jan. 7 (AP)—Dr. George Crile, 78, renowned surgeon-scientist, died today at the Cleveland clinic where he had been for three weeks for treatment of a heart ailment.

Recognized internationally for his surgical skill, Dr. Crile was known to scientists primarily for his more than 50 years of research work on the nature of life and the loss of energy that attended death.

Concerned with preserving the natural function of organs, Dr. Crile successfully "blocked" nerves by anesthesia to prevent surgical shock. He believed himself to be the first person to make a direct blood transfusion, performed in 1905.

Because of his success with goiter surgery, he often was referred to as a specialist in this branch. It was estimated he had removed 25,000 goiters and trained scores of young doctors in his method.

LIEUT.-COL. WAGNER, FLYING HERO, KILLED IN FLA. CRASH

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—Lieut.-Col. Boyd David (Buzz) Wagner, whose name ranks alongside that of Colin Kelly and other air heroes of the Philippines campaign of World War II, lost his life when his single-engined plane crashed during a routine flight in Florida, it was disclosed with discovery of the body.

Lieut.-Col. Boyd Wagner

The 26-year-old flier had been missing since he left Eglin Field, Fla., on Nov. 29, on a routine flight to Maxwell Field, Ala. He had been on a series of special assignments since returning from active duty in the Far East last fall.

The War Department notified Wagner's grief-stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd M. Wagner, that the body had been found in the wreckage of a plane about 25 miles from Eglin Field.

The Pensacola, Fla., Journal stated that the badly wrecked pursuit plane, its engine buried six feet in the earth, had been found 11 miles from Defuniak Springs.

"Buzz," a taciturn fellow, never discussed his personal activities, but associates said he destroyed somewhere between 15 and 50 Jap planes

When the war broke out, Wagner was a first lieutenant stationed near Manila. There are many stories about his feats which led to his becoming the youngest lieutenant-colonel in the Army after he had been transferred to Australia.

One story was about the time three "Zeros" chased him around a volcano. His plane was faster on level flight, but slower as a climber, so he kept going around the volcano until he was chasing the Japs.

WAR FUND DRIVE MAKES APPEAL FOR VOLUNTEERS

Faced with a shortage of help and handicaped by the scarcity of gasoline and other transportation, leaders of the Greater Boston United War Fund today appealed for volunteers to help distribute thousands of pieces of campaign literature.

Distribution of this material, including subscription blanks, is vital to success of the 7,800,000 fund drive, Charles C. Cabot, general chairman, announced. He asked car owners to help carry it to the various district headquarters.

"Many residents of Greater Boston communities could help solve this problem for us," he said. "Many persons use their cars, necessary in their business, and drive home with empty seats at night. If they would stop by Fund headquarters at 70 Federal st.; and pick up a package to drop at local headquarters in their respective towns we would be very grateful.

"We can also use assistance in Boston and will welcome any volunteer who can devote an hour or two during the day to help out."

Settlement houses and neighborhood centers which benefit from the war fund remained open all night as a refuge for families lacking oil to heat their homes. Directors of these agencies said their centers would remain open as long as the fuel emergency exists.

U. S. Civil Service Needs More Typists

Because of the increased need for clerks, typists and stenographers by Washington war agencies, the U. S. civil service commission announced today an increase in clerk and stenographic pay scales which fixes annual salaries at $1741 and $1969. The $1969 wage is for stenographers with two years' experience.

The Navy Department, as a special inducement to New England women, now allows appointment in Boston at $1741 per annum, and at the end of two weeks' indoctrination here, will transfer the new appointees to Washington at government expense.

Farmers Aim At Record Goal

Goals set for Massachusetts' 20,000 farmers in 1943 will mean "over the top" record achievements—but they can and will be met—Willard A. Munson, director of the Massachusetts state college extension service, said today. Here are the 1943 Massachusetts' farm quotas:

More than 800,000,000 pounds of milk from 1,30,000 cows; about 61,000,000 dozens of eggs; more than 290,000 turkeys; nearly 12,000,000 chickens, more than 13,600 hogs, and 4000 sheep and lambs. The contents of the Duffle Bag, after the show, are sent to various service centers for free distribution to the Yanks. Even when you can't answer, you still send thanks to the Yanks. Over 585,000 Camels have been sent as this goes to press.

"MAYBE you've been in the audience of Camel's new Thanks to the Yanks program in the Columbia Broadcasting Studio in New York. Maybe you were even in the show. Or maybe you heard it on the air.

"Anyway, you probably know that when a quiz question I give out is answered correctly, we send up to 3,000 Camels to any service man the contestant names. Everybody has a lot of fun—in addition to providing soldiers, sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen around the globe a lot of free smoking fun—with Camels, their favorite cigarette.* Tune in this Saturday night.

"But... you can send your thanks to the Yanks—show or no show! Your dealer has complete mailing instructions for all branches of the service. See him today and thank a Yank with a carton of Camels. It's so easy... and honestly, his appreciation will kindle a very special glow in the region of your heart."

Think hard, Mr. Murray! ... Snapped here is Martin H. Murray of New Bedford, Mass. trying hard to answer his question and send his nephew at Fort Bragg 2,000 Camels. A few seconds after the camera clicked, he got the answer. And his nephew got the smokes.

Here's Mrs. Wilford C. Long, of Portland, Oregon, very happy over the fact that she's given the right answer to one of Bob Hawk's questions. A certain officer in the Army Medical Corps overseas will be happily surprised with 2,000 Camels.

Thank your Yank with his favorite..

COURT HEARS MOONEY PLEA IN GROVE CASE TOMORROW

Arguments on a motion seeking to quash the indictment against City Building Commr. James H. Mooney, charged with neglect of duty in connection with the Cocoanut Grove disaster, are scheduled to be heard by Judge Frank J. Donahue in Suffolk Superior Court tomorrow.

The motion, filed by Mooney's counsel, former Judge Hugh D. McLellan, asks dismissal of the indictment on grounds that it sets forth "no crime known to the law of this commonwealth."

No statutes exist, the motion contends, which make it an offense for the building commissioner to fail to institute proceedings against building owners or occupants.

The motion also states that the defendant had no reasonable cause to believe, or even suspect, any of the alleged violations of any provisions of the law.

Mooney's motion was filed after Capt. Joseph A. Buccigros of the Warren ave. station, last of the 10 defendants in the Grove case to be arraigned, pleaded not guilty. His bail of $1000 was continued.

Judge Scores Police For Searching Citizen

It's not in keeping with American ideas of liberty, in the opinion of Judge Joseph Riley of Municipal Court, for a police officer to stop and search a citizen on the street.

Such was his comment after finding Barney Simon of the West End not guilty of being concerned in a lottery. A plain clothes officer admitted stopping Simon on the street, searching him for lottery tickets.

GETS NEWS OF MATE'S CAPTURE

Lynn Wife Gets Word Captain Is Jap Captive

Capt. Robert Pennell, soldier-husband of a young Lynn mother, is one of four Massachusetts officers being held as prisoners by the Japanese, their families have been informed by the War Department.

His wife, Mrs. Dorothy Lacey Pennell, is now in Chicago, where she is at work on a government job. Capt. Pennell was wounded during the siege of Corregidor, shortly after his wife and their two-year-old son escaped from the Philippines. Mrs. Pennell wrote her mother, Mrs. Henry O. Lacey of Atlantic st., Lynn, that she had received word of her husband's capture.

"We never gave up hope that we would hear from him, even after nine months passed without receiving any word," Mrs. Lacey said.

Capt. Pennell is the son of Brig.-Gen. Ralph McT. Pennell, who also is serving on one of the Allied fronts.

Three other Massachusetts officers were reported captives of the Japs in the Philippines in the same official list released by the War Department. They are Lieut. David B. Bartlett of Newton st., Belmont; Lieut. Murray M. Day of Boston, and Capt. Melvin H. Rosen of Addison st., Gloucester.

Also reported captive were Lieut. Bruce L. Cormack of Carr st., Providence; Lieut. Walter Ashborn of Bridgeport, and Maj. Clarence F. Maynard of Norwich, Ct., and Lieut. Everett J. Carney of Cambridgeport, Vt.

Invasion Fear Hits Australia

LONDON, Jan. 7 (INS)—Australian newspapers, fearful of a possible Japanese invasion attempt, suggested editorially today that Prime Minister John Curtin fly immediately to Washington to ask President Roosevelt for more aid against Japanese shipping concentrations at Rabaul, a Reuter dispatch from Sydney said.

Australian government officials have voiced warnings for several days that Japan was concentrating a vast armada of merchantmen and warships at Rabaul, New Britain island, which is the principal base of the Nipponese in the southwest Pacific.

IS LUFTWAFFE STRIPPED OF POWER, OR PLAYING POSSUM?

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

NEW YORK, Jan. 7—Where is the German airforce or what has happened to it?

Events and reports within the past few months, but particularly within the last week, indicate the Luftwaffe is definitely dwindling unless—

Unless Hitler is saving it for some desperate offensive or defensive measure or cooking up a surprise. The Germans have been full of surprises in this war.

The reports: The Luftwaffe has been reduced to 5000 first line combat planes — less than half its strength at the war's start in 1939—and has lost air superiority on all three fronts, Russia, North Africa and Western Europe.

TOKEN BOMBINGS

The events: The Luftwaffe's raids on Britain have been reduced to token bombings; it failed to crush Stalingrad; it was smashed in North Africa.

Questions: If Hitler had the air strength to use would he have told the Nazi party in Munich two months ago that his heart was bleeding over Allied attacks on Germany and still not strike back at Britain? Would he have failed to use it at Stalingrad, which he told the German people was in the bag? Would he have permitted Rommel, so close to the Suez Canal and the Middle East, to be routed by Allied air power?

Only three years ago Field Marshal Hermann Goering at the war's start called the Luftwaffe the "terror of its enemies."

A few factors will prevent the Allies from turning the full tide of their airpower against Hitler: Some planes must be diverted to the Pacific war and there are problems of transporting American planes to the European theater.

But still the Allied airpower against Hitler should be tremendous:

American production (49,000) and estimated British production (25,000) in 1942 totaled 74,000 planes. In 1943 British production, believed to have reached its peak, should remain at 25,000 while the American goal is 100,000 planes.

199,000 PLANES

Total Allied production for the two years, exclusive of Russian output, therefore would be: 199,000 planes.

Total German production, granted that Allied bombings won't interfere with it and exclusive of the relatively small Italian output, should be for that same two-year period: 48,000 planes.

Was Germany's air strength ever as rugged as Nazi propaganda made it appear? It didn't have to be, and for two reasons:

1—At the war's start the Axis had more completed planes and production facilities than the Allies.

2—The Nazis operated with the benefit of surprise attack and from within a circle—military men call it interior lines of communications—and by picking one front at a time were able to:

Concentrate in turn on Poland, Norway, the Low Countries and France, England in the battle of Britain, Yugoslavia and Greece.

This week the Berlin Lokalanzeiger said Russia had gained air superiority on the eastern front.

In London the New York Times' Raymond Daniell, asserting that the best available authority said Hitler now has about 5000 first line combat planes, added:

"Of these, some 2000 have been locked in combat on the Russian front with the Red air force which has exacted such a heavy toll that it takes the best part of Germany's production of 140 combat planes to maintain reserves."

Dies Hints Plot On Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (INS)—Rep. Dies (D.) of Texas today told the House that he soon will lay before the members details "of a conspiracy to discredit and destroy Congress, participated in by certain officials of our government whom I will name at the proper time."

He said the special committee investigating un-American activities, which he heads, "has evidence that millions of dollars of credit in banks was used by radical groups, some of it illegally, to try to defeat members of Congress" in the recent election.

"If the executive branch of this government," Dies said, "does not immediately discharge the officials involved when the facts are disclosed, then I shall take this floor day after day until it is done."

LITTLE BAND OF U. S. SOLDIERS BRAVES BURMA HEAD-HUNTERS

By PRESTON GROVER

AN AMERICAN OUTPOST ON THE BURMA FRONT, Dec. 10 —(Delayed)—A band of ten American soldiers led by a sergeant in his early 20's holds this advanced scouting and listening post in the midst of one of the world's most primitive jungles and they "love it."

Against the advice of the wary British they have made friends with the untamed Naga hillsmen and each night they sit around camp fires swapping jests with the wild men.

But the Americans always keep their guns handy. Only a few hundred yards away from the American camp, King Tong Am has on exhibition row of several score heads of enemies who weren't wary enough.

Herbert Matthews of the New York Times and I visited this outpost on the alert for Japanese invaders.

Accompanied by Lieut.-Col. J. F. Barr, of San Antonio, Texas, and Lieut. L. L. Hall, of Hamilton Field, Cal., we drove to the foothills and then legged it 10 miles to the top of the peak where the listening post is located near the Naga village. Sergt. I. F. Meyer, of Fresno, Cal., sent eight Nagas to guide us and to pack baggage.

Meyer's job, with the nine others, is to watch for Japanese bombers heading towards American airfields in the northeast of India.

For six miles we lumbered up and down and over steep hills. Then we started on a four-mile unbroken climb. The path to the watch tower on the mountain rose to 3000 feet so steeply we could take it only in 100 step stages at first and then we had to slow down to 50 steps.

The Naga hillsmen wear nothing except beads of bamboo twisted around their middle and a thin strip of loin cloth. The women wear not an inch more. With one stroke, the warriors' dah can cut off a goat's—or a human's—head.

The watch tower is situated in what the British describe as "unadministered territory." They forbade Americans to enter it, insisting it was unsafe for white men, but the Americans went anyway. And they found the Nagas the friendliest of people.

"That's an old trick," the British army authorities say, "we've lost many heads learning better." But Sergt Meyer and his party are unworried . . . although ever watchful.

They have rifles, pistols and tommyguns. They pay King Tong 15 rupees (slightly less than $5) a month for rental of the mountain top. He is learning fast, however, because he now wants three months rent in advance. "I'm getting married," he explained.

He didn't get the advance.

SOBBING BOSTON MOTHERS PLEAD IN VAIN FOR FUEL OIL

Though she herself was out tramping the streets, looking for oil, Mrs. Rose Palma of Marcella st., Roxbury, said she did not blame the dealers for closing.

Her husband, James Palma, works for the city and during the past few days of rain and then snow has come home wet nearly every evening, with no way to dry his clothes, because of inadequate heat, or no heat at all.

PATRIOTISM TESTED

Two Palma children, Josephine, 13, and James, 10, go to school and the mother is thankful they do, because it is the only place they can get warm.

Mrs. Palma has four brothers in the English Army—one in Africa, two at Gibraltar and one in India—as well as a sister in the women's auxiliary army in England.

"I keep thinking of patriotism," she said, "and of course I want to be patriotic, but most of these weeks we've been freezing cold. We had no oil at all during Christmas week. We have five rooms but we've been living in only two."

MOTHER OF 5 PLEADS

Mrs. Lucy Aprille of Columbus ave., Roxbury, mother of five children, said her husband is a railroad foreman who works outdoors and who has been coming home with his clothing wet.

One daughter, Kathleen, 8, goes to school. Another, Rosalie, 5, is suffering from a cold. A third daughter, Lucille, is 4. One son, Frank, 2, has just recovered from the chicken-pox and now has a cold, and there is the baby, Joseph, 7 months.

All are bundled in sweaters and coats in the house, and often sit huddled in blankets as well.

Yesterday the mother waited in line an hour and a half and was able to obtain three gallons of oil, which heated the small home temporarily. But today she could get no more.

-WAR WORKERS SUFFER

Mrs. Jennie Meringi of Marcella st. has a son in the Army and another who works outside at the Navy Yard, in rain and snow and cold. A daughter lives at home and another daughter, Mrs. Helen Truowski, 24, lives upstairs.

On so many occasions has the son at the Navy Yard gone back to work in wet clothes that he finally became ill and is now confined to bed in the cold flat.

A similar situation as to wet clothes exists upstairs. The daughter's husband is an outside worker at Fore River.

Fifteen-year-old Mary Simboli of Marcella st. had to stay out out of school today while her mother, Mrs. Naomi, walked the streets looking for oil. The husband and father is ill from working constantly in clothing he has been unable to dry at home.

Mrs. Rose Cardoza of Columbus ave. has three children and is expecting another in three weeks. The family moved into the living room, hoping to conserve fuel by using only the little oil heater there. They conserved so well that no wthey are without oil at all.

Meanwhile, highlights of the growing fuel crisis today were:

(1) New England OPA executives and police awaited issuance of regulations in Washington for enforcement of the ban on all pleasure driving, effective at noon.

(2)—All non-residential building—schools, stores, restaurants, theaters, churches, factories and government buildings—faced shutdowns a portion of each week or operation on a part-time basis owing to the new 25 per cent slash in oil rations.

(3) Mayor Tobin reported from Washington that the first segment of 200,000 barrels of kerosene from Texas will arrive in Boston by the end of the week. The drum containers were loaned by the Army and will be carried in boxcars, requiring 26 trains of 50 cars each.

(4) Release from government stocks of 120,000 barrels of heavy bunker oil stalled off widespread threatened shut-downs of schools and industries, for the time being at least.

In addition, a small amount of relief was seen in the weather as the official U. S. forecast predicted temperatures "not quite so cold" tonight. Today's minimum was 18 at 7 a. m., compared with 8 just 24 hours earlier. Light snow is anticipated during the night.

BIG DAILY SAVING

The drastic cut in oil consumption, ordered by Price Chief Leon Henderson, not only saves more than 35,000 barrels of oil daily as an immediate result, but is the most effective impetus for large-scale conversion to date.

It led some fuel experts to voice hope that the oil situation might even be in hand, after the 17 rationed states settle down to existence under the new ration reductions and curtailed motoring.

"I doubt if there will be any necessity for removal of any numbers of people from their homes to emergency quarters," declared Col. Thomas F. Sullivan, state conservator, after receiving word of the emergency allotment of 1,000,000 gallons of range oil.

He cautioned that the crisis was still grave, perhaps worse in Fall River and other cities than Boston, but saw signs of relief.

As for the restrictions on driving, State OPA Director Parkman and Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin awaited specific rulings from Washington as to enforcement of the ban.

The curtailment on "driving for fun" specifically forbids motoring to theaters, race tracks and similar amusement centers, or to meet "purely social engagements." Any motorist disobeying the order faces cancellation of all or part of his gasoline ration, the OPA ruled.

Pending the expected rulings, local rationing executives said motoring to church, to a doctor or hospital does not constitute a violation. Taking children to school also appeared permissible in the absence of other transportation.

OIL DRAIN INCREASES

The best test, Henderson said, is that "if it's fun it's out."

He added that the ban is necessary because "there simply isn't enough fuel oil or gasoline to go around."

He asserted that military and civilian demands are drying up eastern oil reserves faster than overstrained tank cars, pipe lines and tankers can replenish them.

"Failure to act swiftly and boldly," Henderson declared, "could only mean serious threat to war production, a breakdown of vital transportation and tens of thousands of homes utterly without heat."

Only hospitals and war plants, where constant temperatures must be maintained, are exempt from the drastic cut, but even the allotments for such establishments may be reduced to some degree.

Starting Jan. 18, all persons holding rations for other than private dwellings are directed by OPA to return them to their local boards, if more than 30 per cent of the floor area is used for non-residential purposes.

From now on, most oil-heated businesses can count on only about 45 per cent of their normal requirements.

The number of coupons to be eliminated will be determined by the board for each of the three remaining heating periods, 3, 4 and 5. The amount of "trimming" will depend on the percentage of floor area used for commercial purposes.

Price Chief Henderson figures that the restriction will add more than 1,500,000 gallons daily to the amount available for heating homes, apartments and other dwellings—but he warned that the cut will not only remain effective a long time, but may be made deeper.

TRICKLE OF OIL FOR BOSTON—As cold wave continues to bring hardship to Boston, a trickle of oil comes in . . . with Oilman Thomas Caizzi getting 555 gallons as a starter for his fuel-hungry East Boston customers today.

STRIKE PERILS COAL OUTPUT

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—An outlaw strike of 12,000 miners in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields created a shortage of hard coal today, even as the Eastern seaboard felt the pinch of newly tightened rationing of fuel oil.

Outgoing shipments were curtailed sharply and deliveries to domestic consumers here in the heart of the anthracite region were limited to one ton.

Meanwhile, three local unions of the United Mine Workers of America, disregarding leaders' pleas that they return to work immediately, voted to remain on strike.

The shortage was reported after the OPA slashed fuel oil rations by 25 per cent for all non-residential buildings in 17 eastern states. Anthracite is used primarily in homes but thousands of householders have converted from oil to coal in accordance with government demands.

The OPA, acting to increase production, also granted an increase of 50 cents a ton, or about 5 per cent, in hard coal ceiling prices yesterday to enable operators to meet higher production costs. The increase was part of a government-sponsored plan to boost the mine work week from 35 hours to six days.

The strike, which started Dec. 30 in one colliery and spread to nine others, was primarily in protest against a 50 cents a month increase in union dues voted at a UMW convention in Cincinnati last October, union spokesmen said.

The workers also sought a $2 a day wage increase.

Marine's 35 Years' Back Pay in Bonds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (INS)—Quartermaster Clerk Hugh F. Deakins, U. S. Marine Corps, asked for and received the back pay which has accumulated in his 35 years of service.

So he took the $21,269.29 and "dood" it. In the bank at Quantico, Va., are five $5000 war bonds for the future use of Mr. and Mrs. Deakins, and their 9-year-old son, Howard.

A native of Bowlesburg, W. Va., Deakins is a Marine of the Montezuma-Tripoli tradition. He sailed around the world on the 1908 "good will" cruiser with "Fighting Bob" Evans, served in China, Haiti and Santo Domingo.

Gas Dealer Head Blasts New Edict

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 7 (AP) John Dressler, chairman of the Eastern States Conference of Gasoline Dealers, described as "silly and certainly not feasible" the Office of Price Administration's edict today banning pleasure driving.

"When the boys in Washington get off the merry-go-round and start doing things sensibly, we may get some place with this rationing problem," said Dressler, who also is president of the New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association.

OPA QUIZ LETS YOU KNOW IF, HOW YOU CAN BUY STOVE

The following questions and answers on the rationing of new coal and oil-burning heating stoves, now in effect in New England, were released today by the Office of Price Administration through the Regional Office of War Information:

1—Q—What kind of stoves is OPA rationing?

A—New coal and oil-burning heaters.

2—Q—Why are oil-fired heaters included in the stove rationing program?

A—To prevent their sale except under very unusual circumstances.

3—Q—What about cooking stoves?

A—No. Stoves designed for cooking exclusively, such as electric ranges, gas ranges and oil stoves which can be used for nothing else but cooking are not included.

4—Q—And wood heaters, where do they come in?

A—Stoves that burn only wood are not being rationed either.

5—Q—Are used stoves rationed?

A—No.

6—Q—The range burner I had put into my kitchen stove two years ago to convert it from coal to oil is out of repair. May I replace it?

A—No. You'll have to go back to using coal. The sale of range burners is prohibited.

7—Q—What's the purpose of this stove-rationing program?

A—First, to save fuel-oil. But it also aims to provide heating equipment that uses no oil.

8—Q—Are these stoves being rationed only where there are heating problems?

A—That's right, they are being rationed only in the 30 northeastern and midwestern states.

9—Q—Who gets these rationed stoves?

A—(1)—Anyone who will use his new coal stove to replace an oil burner.

(2)—Persons who need a stove to heat essential living or working space which is not now heated and who have not disposed of unusable heating equipment within 60 days.

(3)—Persons whose present coal-burning equipment is damaged or worn beyond repair.

(4)—Persons who are eligible under fuel oil rationing regulations for an auxiliary ration of 350 gallons or more oil and will use coal-burning equipment instead.

10—Q—Isn't that a new kind of rationing idea?

A—Yes, it is.

11—Q.—Does that mean that there are lots of stoves?

A—No. And that's why they're being rationed—so that the supply that is available will go only to persons who will use them to save oil.

12—Q.—I understand I can get a purchase certificate for a new coal stove if I want to replace an oil heater. But suppose I've fixed up a spare room over the garage for a family that needs living quarters badly and there's no stove there at all. May I buy a stove to heat it?

A—Yes. If you have essential working or living space that has no heat—and you haven't disposed of a heater that could have been used during the 60 days before you apply for a rationed stove—you are eligible to buy a coal heater.

13—Q—I have a coal stove but it's badly worn and is really dangerous to have around. Where do I fit in?

A—You may apply for a purchase certificate, too—that is, if you really tried to have the stove repaired and your dealer says it can't be done.

14—Q—My grandmother, who is ill, lives with us, and the board has granted us an auxiliary oil ration of 400 gallons to keep her rooms warm. We'd be glad to put a coal stove in there instead. May we do it?

A—Yes, and get thanked for it, too.

15—Q—I know now that I'm eligible to buy a rationed stove. How do I go about getting one?

A—That's simple. Go to your local rationing board and apply for a purchase certificate.

16—Q—Suppose the board says I am eligible to buy a rationed stove, what happens next?

A—The board will give you a purchase certificate—good for 30 days—which entitles you to buy a coal heater.

17—Q—What do I do with the purchase certificate?

A—You take it to any dealer. You give him the certificate either when you buy the stove or when it is delivered.

18—Q—My house is heated with an oil burner which cannot be repaired. I would be glad to replace it with a coal stove, but so far my dealer has been unable to get one for me. What should I do?

A—Ask your dealer to keep on trying. Several thousand coal heaters have been or are being shipped into New England to meet the demands of this program.

19—Q—Is there any place where my dealer or I could get help in locating a stove?

A—Yes. You might get in touch with your state OPA office.

20—Q—And if we find then that we can't get a coal stove.

A—If you are positive your present oil heater can't be repaired, and none of your inquiries results in locating a coal stove, you may ask your board for a purchase certificate to replace your oil heater.

21—Q—Is that the only condition on which I can buy a new oil heater?

A—No. If you must replace an oil heater for use in a house trailer or for use in a space that has neither flue chimney, or other provision for venting, you may ask for a purchase certificate for an oil-fired stove.

22—Q—Our oilstove cannot be repaired and no one in the family is physically able to run a coal stave. What should we do?

A—If you can make no arrangements for having someone run a coal stove, you may apply to your ration board for a new oil heater.

23—Q—I turned in my oil coupons when I applied for a purchase certificate to buy a coal heater and now I can't find a coal stove anywhere. How do I get oil to keep us warm until I locate one?

A—It's probably best to locate a stove before you apply for your purchase certificate. But if that's not possible, remember that your certificate is good for 30 days—during which time your local board will hold your fuel-oil ration coupons.

PASSAGE OF PAY-AS-YOU-GO TAX BILL SEEN BY MARCH 15

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (INS)—Passage of a "pay-as-you-go" tax bill by March 15 was forecast in Congress today with experts expressing belief the legislation will probably incorporate modified aspects of the Ruml plan.

The concensus on the House Ways and Means Committee, which must originate the measure, is that hearings likely will start about Jan. 20 with the Treasury Department willing to forgive at least a part of a year's income taxes to place collections on a month-to-month basis immediately after March 15.

Sentiment for the pay-as-you-go plan advocated by Beardsley Ruml, New York executive, is judged in Congres as on the increase, with some high administration leaders now favoring his proposals.

The opening day of the new Congress saw numerous bills introduced based on Ruml's suggestion.

Rep. Doughton (D.) of North Carolina, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, declared today:

"We are going to have to put a pay-as-you-go bill through as soon as we can."

Rep. Reed of New York, ranking Republican of the committee, expressed similar convictions, while Rep. Knutson (R.) of Minnesota prtdicted "the bill will be on the President 'sdesk by March 15."

A fourth member, Rep. Carlson (R.) of Kansas, forecast the measure would "be at least a modification of the Ruml plan."

"I think most members are convinced that two years of taxes cannot be collected in one year," he said. "The American people just cannot foot the bill.

"Likewise, I think most members are convinced that we are going to have to put taxes on a pay-as-you-go basis at the earliest moment if we are to collect taxes after the war and if the shift to a peace basis is to be accomplished without a terrific dislocation."

Carlson has introduced a bill incorporating the Ruml plan.

DEMOCRATS IN CAUCUS WAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—An anti-administration group sought today to gain control of the Senate's steering committee and to refurbish it as a policy-defining instrument in the new Congress.

Revolting against the custom which has permitted Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky to appoint the membership, several veteran senators were reported to have agreed at secret meetings to attempt to force a showdown in caucus today on a proposal to fill steering committee vacancies by vote of all the Democrats in the Senate.

In the last Congress, the Administration could list at least 12 of the 19 members of the steering group as its staunch supporters. Three of these—Senators Brown (D.) of Michigan, Smathers (D.) of New York and Lee (D.) Oklahoma—were defeated, leaving control of the group in doubt.

If they can gain control the insurgent senators said they plan to demand that the steering committee be consulted on all important measures coming before the Senate, and that it be given the responsibility of determining which controversial bills shall be considered and which pigeonholed.

and the North Atlantic convoys. Their unconquerable spirit will live forever.

RUSSIA'S GREAT FIGHT

By far the largest and most important developments in the whole strategic picture of 1942 were the events on the long fronts in Russia: First, the implacable defense of Stalingrad; and, second, the offensives by the Russian armies at various points which started in the latter part of November and which still roll on with great force and effectiveness.

The other major events of the year were: The series of Japanese advances in the Philippines, the East Indies, Malaya and Burma; the stopping of the Japanese in the mid-Pacific, the South Pacific and the Indian oceans; the successful defense of the Near East by the British counterattack through Egypt and Libya; the American-British occupation of North Africa.

Of continuing importance in the year 1942 were the unending, bitterly-contested battles of the convoy routes, and the gradual passing of air superiority from the Axis to the United Nations.

The Axis powers knew that they must win the war in 1942—or eventually lose everything. I do not need to tell you that our enemies did not win this war in 1942.

OUR MIDWAY VICTORY

In the Pacific area, our most important victory in 1942 was the air and naval battle off Midway

SPEAKER SAM RAYBURN
At Opening of Session

Island. That action is historically important because it secured for our use communication lines stretching thousands of miles in every direction. In placing this emphasis on the battle of Midway, I am not unmindful of other successful actions in the Pacific, in the air and on land and afloat—especially those on the Coral Sea and New Guinea and in the Solomon Islands. But these actions were essentially defensive. They were part of the delaying strategy that characterized this phase of the war.

During this period we inflicted steady losses upon the enemy—great losses of Japanese planes, naval vessels, transports and cargo ships.

As early as one year ago, we set as a primary task in the war of the Pacific day-by-day and week-by-week destruction of those Japanese war material than Japanese industry could replace. Most certainly, that task has been and is being performed by our fighting ships and planes. A large part of this task has been accomplished by the gallant crews of our American submarines who strike on the other side of the Pacific at Japanese ships—right at the very mouth of the harbor of Yokohama.

WHEN WE POUND JAPS

We know that as each day goes by, Japanese strength in ships and planes is going down and down, and American strength in ships and planes is going up and up. The eventual outcome can be put on a mathematical basis. That will become evident to the Japanese people themselves when we strike at their own home islands, and bomb them constantly from the air.

In the attacks against Japan, we shall be joined with the heroic people of China, whose ideals of peace are so closely akin to our own. Even today we are flying as much lend-lease material into China as ever traversed the Burma Road, flying it over mountains 17,000 feet high, flying blind through sleet and snow.

We shall overcome all the formidable obstacles, and get the battle equipment into China to shatter the power of our common enemy. From this war, China will realize the scurity, the prosperity and the dignity, which Japan has sought so ruthlessly to destroy.

The period of our defensive attrition in the Pacific is passing. Now our aim is to force the Japanese to fight. Last year, we stopped them. This year, we intend to advance.

AFRICA COUP AIDS RUSSIA

In the European theater of war during this past year it was clear that our first task was to lessen the concentrated pressure on the Russian front by compelling Germany to divert part of her manpower and equipment to another theater of war.

After months of secret planning and preparation in the utmost detail, an enormous amphibious expedition was embarked for French North Africa from the United States and the United Kingdom in hundreds of ships. It reached its objectives with very small losses, and has already produced an important effect upon the whole situation of the war. It has opened to attack what Mr. Churchill well described as "the under-belly of the Axis," and it has removed the always dangerout threat of an Axis attack through West Africa against the South Atlantic ocean and the continent of South America itself.

The well-timed and splendidly executed offensive from Egypt by the British Eighth army was a part of the same major strategy of the United Nations.

Great rains and appalling mud and very limited communications have delayed the final battles of Tunisia. The Axis is reinforcing its strong positions. But I am confident that though the fighting will be tough, when the final Allied assault is made, the last vestige of Axis power will be driven from the south shores of the Mediterranean.

YANKS ROUND THE WORLD

Any review of the year 1942 must emphasize the magnitude and diversity of the military activities in which this nation has become engaged. As I speak to you, sailors, marines and fliers are in service outside our continental limits, all through the world. Our merchant seamen are carrying supplies to them and to our Allies over every sea lane.

Few Americans realize the amazing growth of our air strength, though I am sure our enemy does. Day in and day out our forces are bombing the enemy and meeting him in combat on many different fronts over the world. And for those who question the quality of our aircraft and ability of our fliers, I point to the fact that, in Africa, we are shooting down two enemy planes to every one we lose, and in the Pacific and in the Southwest Pacific we are shooting them down four to one.

We pay the tribute of the United States of America to the fighting men of Russia and China and Britain and the various members of the British Commonwealth—the millions of men who through the years of this war have fought our common enemies, and have denied to them the world conquest which they sought.

WE'LL STRIKE SOON!

We pay tribute to the soldiers and fliers and seamen of others of the United Nations whose countries have been overrun by Axis hordes.

As a result of the Allied occupation of North Africa, powerful units of the French army and navy are going into action with the United Nations' forces. We welcome them as Allies and as friends. They join with those Frenchmen who, since the dark days of June, 1940, have been fighting valiantly for the liberation of their stricken country.

We pay tribute to the fighting leaders of our Allies, to Winston Churchill, to Joseph Stalin and to the Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. There is a very real unanimity between the leaders of the United Nations. This unity is effective in planning and carrying out the major strategy of this war and in building up and maintaining the lines of supplies.

I cannot prophesy. I cannot tell you when or where the United Nations are going to strike next in Europe. But we are going to strike—and strike hard. I cannot tell you whether we are going to hit them in Norway, or through the Low Countries, or in France, or through Sardinia or Sicily, or through the Balkans, or through Poland—or at several points simultaneously.

But I can tell you that no matter where and when we strike by land, we and the British and the Russians will hit them from the air heavily and relentlessly. Day in and day out we shall heap tons upon tons of explosives on their war factories and utilities and seaports.

ONLY MIRACLES SATISFY

Hitler and Mussolini will understand the enormity of their miscalculations—that the Nazis would always have the advantage of superior air-power as they did when the bombed Warsaw, Rotterdam, London and Coventry. That superiority has gone—forever.

Yes, the Nazis and the Fascists have asked for it—and they are going to get it.

Our forward progress in this war has depended upon our progress on the production front.

There has been criticism of the management and conduct of our war production. Much of this self-criticism has had a healthy effect. It has spurred us on. It has reflected a normal American impatience to get on with the job. We are the kind of people who are never quite satisfied with anything short of miracles.

But there has been some criticism based on guesswork and even on malicious falsification of fact. Such criticism creates doubts and fears and weakens our total effort.

I do not wish to suggest that we should be completely satisfied with our production progress—today, or next month, or ever. But I can report to you with genuine pride on what has been accomplished during 1942.

5500 PLANES A MONTH

A year ago we set certain production goals for 1942 and 1943. Some people, including some experts, thought that we had pulled some big figures out of a hat just to frighten the Axis. But we had confidence in the ability of our people to establish new records. That confidence has been justified.

Of course, we realized that some production objectives would have to be changed—some adjusted upward, and others downward; some items would be taken out of the program completely, and others added. This was inevitable as we gained battle experience, and as technological improvements were made.

Our 1942 airplane production and tank production fell short, numerically, of the goals set a year ago. Nevertheless, we have plenty of reason to be proud of our record for 1942. We produced about 48,000 military planes—more than the airplane production of Germany, Italy and Japan put together.

Last month, December, we produced 5500 military planes and the rate is rapidly rising. Furthermore, as each month passes by, the averages of our types weigh more, take more man-hours to make, and have more striking power.

In tank production, we revised our schedule—and for good and sufficient reasons. As a result of hard experience in battle, we have diverted a portion of our tank producing capacity to a stepped-up production of new, deadly field weapons, especially self-propelled artillery.

PRODUCTION FIGURES

Here are some other production figures:

In 1942 we produced 56,000 combat vehicles, such as tanks and self-propelled artillery.

In 1942, we produced 670,000 machine guns, six times greater than our production in 1941 and three times greater than our total production during the year and a half of our participation in the first World War.

We produced 21,000 anti-tank guns, six times greater than our 1941 production.

We produced ten and a quarter billion rounds of small arms ammunition, five times greater than our 1941 production and three times greater than our total production in the first World War.

We produced 181 million rounds of artillery ammunition, 12 times greater than our 1941 production and 10 times greater than our total production in the first World War.

The arsenal of democracy is making good.

These facts and figures will give no aid and comfort to the enemy. On the contrary, I can imagine they will give him considerable discomfort.

I suspect Hitler and Tojo will find it difficult to explain to the German and Japanese people just why it is that "decadent, inefficient democracy" can produce such phenomenal quantities of weapons and munitions—and fighting men.

ARMY OF 7,000,000

We have given the lie to certain misconceptions — especially the one which holds that the various blocs or groups within a free country cannot forego their political and economic differences in time of crisis and work together toward a common goal.

While we have been achieving this miracle of production, during the past year our armed forces have grown from a little over 2,000,000 to 7,000,000.

In other words, we have withdrawn from the labor force and the farms some 5,000,000 of our younger workers. And in common effort by producing the greatest quantity of food ever made avail-

F. D. Also Victim Of Questionnaire

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Business men of the nation have some reason to complain about complicated government questionnaires—so says no less authority than President Roosevelt.

He told Congress today:

"We all know that there have been too many complicated forms and questionnaires. I know about that. I have had to fill out some myself."

But, he explained, "the forms and questionnaires represent an honest and sincere attempt by honest and sincere officials" to obtain information necessary in the effort to keep prices down and supplies distributed fairly. He held out hope for relief by saying "we have learned by the mistakes that have been made."

Senate Move to End F. D.-Farm Bloc Row

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—A move to reconcile differences between the administration and the farm bloc took shape on Capitol Hill today under guidance of influential senators anxious to avoid bitter floor fights over parity and agricultural labor issues.

Senator Russell (D.) of Georgia, chairman of the appropriations sub-committee on agriculture, expressed the view that high ranking agricultural and price fixing officials and senators should get together "to view the whole picture" to avoid "piecemeal legislation and a constant series of fights."

Is there any person among us so simple as to believe that all this could have been done without creating some dislocations in our normal life, some inconveniences, and even some hardships.

Who could have hoped to have done this without burdensome government regulations which are a nuisance to everyone—including those who have the thankless task of administering them?

We all know that there have been mistakes—mistakes due to the inevitable process of trial and error inherent in doing big things for the first time. We all know that there have been too many complicated forms and questionnaires. I know about that. I have had to fill some of them out myself.

ALL ALIKE GET FOOD

But we are determined to see to it that our supplies of food and other essential civilian goods are distributed on a fair and just basis—to rich and poor, management and labor, farmer and city dweller alike. And we are determined to keep the cost of living at a stable level. All this has required much information. The forms and questionnaires represent an honest and sincere attempt by honest and sincere officials to obtain this information.

We have learned by mistakes that have been made.

Our experience will enable us during the coming year to improve the necessary mechanisms of wartime economic controls, and simplify administrative procedures. But we do not intend to leave things so lax that loopholes will be left for cheaters, for chislers, or for the manipulators of the black market.

Of course, there have been inconveniences and disturbances—and even hardships. And there will be many, many more before we finally win. Yes, 1943 will not be an easy year for us on the home front. We shall feel in many ways in our daily lives the sharp pinch of total war.

CONFUSION OF TOTAL WAR

Fortunately, there are only a few Americans who place appetite above patriotism. The overwhelming majority realize that the food we send abroad is for military purposes, for our own and Allied fighting forces, and for necessary help in areas that we occupy.

We Americans intend to do this great job together. In our common labors we must build and fortify the very foundation of national unity—confidence in one another.

It is often amusing, and sometimes politically profitable, to picture the city of Washington as a mad-house, with the Congress and Administration disrupted with confusion and indecision and general incompetence.

However—what matters most in war is results. And the one pertinent fact is that after only a few years of preparation and only one year of warfare, we are able to engage, spiritually as well as physically, in the total waging of total war.

REP. WINIFRED C. STANLEY

REP. CLARE B. LUCE

"CONTESTANTS" — Pretty Winifred C. Stanley, elected Representative from New York, is runnnig a close race with attractive Rep. Clare Booth Luce of Connecticut for congressional "glamour girl" honors.

VICTORY MADNESS

Washington may be a mad-house—but only in the sense that it is the capital city of a nation which is fighting mad. And I think that Berlin and Rome and Tokyo, which had such contempt for the obsolete methods of democracy, would now gladly use all they could get of that same brand of madness.

We must not forget that our achievements in production have been relatively no greater than those of the Russians and British and Chinese who have developed their war industries under the incredible difficulties of battle conditions. They have had to continue work through bombings and blackouts. They have never quit.

We Americans are in good, brave company in this war, and we are playing our own, honorable part in the vast common effort.

As spokesmen for the United States government, you and I take off our hats to those responsible for our American production—to the owners, managers and supervisors, to the draftsmen and engineers, to the workers—men and women—in factories and arsenals and shipyards and mines and mills and forests and railroads and highways.

We take off our hats to the farmers who have faced an unprecedented task of feeding not only a great nation but a great part of the world.

We take off our hats to all the loyal, anonymous, untiring men and women who have worked in private employment and in government and who have endured rationing and other stringencies with good humor and good-will.

We take off our hats to all Americans who have contributed magnificently to our common cause.

OUR KIND OF PEACE

I have sought to emphasize a sense of proportion in this review of the events of the war and the needs of the war.

We should never forget the things we are fighting for. But, at this critical period of war, we should confine ourselves to the larger objectives and not get bogged down in argument over method and details.

We, and all the United Nations, want a decent peace and a durable peace. In the years between the end of the first World War and the beginning of the second World War, we were not living under a decent or durable peace.

I have reason to know that our boys at the front are concerned with two broad aims beyond the winning of the war; and their thinking and their opinion coincide with what most Americans here back home are mulling over. They know, and we know, that it would be inconceivable—it would, indeed, be sacrilegious—if this nation and the world did not attain some real, lasting good out of all these efforts and sufferings and bloodshed and death.

The men in our armed forces want a lasting peace, and, equally, they want permanent employment for themselves, their families and their neighbors when they are mustered out at the end of the war.

Two years ago I spoke in my annual message of four freedoms. The blessings of two of them—freedom of speech and freedom of religion—are an essential part of the very life of this nation; and we hope that these blessings will be granted to all men everywhere.

FREEDOM FROM WANT

The people at home and the people at the front—men and women—are wondering about the third freedom—freedom from want. To them it means that when they are mustered out, when war production is converted to the economy of peace, they will have the right to expect full employment—for themselves and for all able-bodied men and women in America who want to work.

They expect the opportunity to work, to run their farms, their stores, to earn decent wages. They are eager to face the risks inherent in our system of free enterprise.

They do not want a postwar America which suffers from undernourishment or slums—or the dole. They want no get-rick-quick era of bogus "prosperity" which will end for them in selling apples on a street corner, as happened after the bursting of the boom in 1929.

When you talk with our young men and women, you will find they want to work for themselves and their families; they consider they have the right to work and they know that after the last war their fathers did not gain that right.

When you talk with our young men and women, you will find that with the opportunity for employment they want assurance against the evils of all major economic hazards—assurance that will extend from the cradle to the grave. This great government can and must provide this assurance.

TASK, NOT AN ISSUE

I have been told that this is no time to speak of a better America after the war. I am told it is a grave error on my part.

I dissent.

If the security of the individual citizen, or the family, should become a subject of national debate, the country knows where I stand.

I say this now to this Seventy-Eighth Congress, because it is wholly possible that freedom from want—the right of employment and the right of assurance against life's hazards—will loom very large as a task of America during the coming two years.

I trust it will not be regarded as an issue—but rather as a task for all of us to study sympathetically, to work out with a constant regard for the attainment of the objective, with fairness to all and with injustice to none.

In this war of survival we must keep before our minds, not only the evil things we fight against, but the good things we are fighting for. We fight to retain a great past—and we fight to gain a greater future.

Let us remember that economic safety for the America of the future is threatened unless a greater economic stability comes to the rest of the world. We cannot make America an island in either a military or an economic sense. Hitlerism, like any other form of crime or disease, can grow from the evil seeds of economic as well as military feudalism.

Victory in this war is the first and greatest goal before us. Victory in the peace is the next. That means striving toward the enlargement of the security of man here and throughout the world—and, finally, striving for the fourth freedom—freedom from fear.

It is of little account for any of us to talk of essential human needs, of attaining security, if we run the risk of another world war in 10 or 20 or 50 years. That is just plain common sense.

Wars grow in size, in death and destruction, and in the inevitability of engulfing all nations, in inverse ratio to the shrinking size of the world as a result of the conquest of the air. I shudder to think of what will happen to humanity, including ourselves, if this war ends in an inconclusive peace, and another war breaks out when the babies of today have grown to fighting age.

Every normal American prays that neither he nor his sons nor his grandsons will be compelled to go through this horror again.

Undoubtedly a few Americans, even now, think that this nation can end this war comfortably and then climb back into an American hole and pull the hole in after them.

MUST PUL LFANGS

But we have learned that we can never dig a hole so deep that it would be safe against predatory animals. We have learned that if we do not pull the fangs of the predatory animals of this world they will multiply and grow in strength—and they will be at our throats once more in a short generation.

Most Americans realize more clearly than ever before that modern war equipment in the hands of aggressor nations can bring danger overnight to our own national existence or to that of any other nation—or island—or continent.

It is clear to us that if Germany and Italy and Japan—or any of them—remain armed at the end of this war, or are permitted to rearm, they will again, and inevitably, embark upon an ambitious career of world conquest.

They must be disarmed and kept disarmed, and they must abandon the philosophy, and the teaching of that philosophy, which has brought so much suffering to the world.

ALLIES HOLD MAJORITY

After the first World War we tried to achieve a formula for permanent peace, based on a magnificent idealism. We failed. But, by our failure, we have learned that we cannot maintain peace at this stage of human development by good intentions alone.

Must Disarm Axis Nations, Says F. D.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Germany, Italy and Japan, President Roosevelt said in his message to Congress today, must be disarmed and kept disarmed, and must abandon a philosophy which has brought suffering to the world. If they remain armed, he said, or are permitted to rearm, inevitably they will embark again on a career of world conquest.

The United Nations can and must remain united for the maintenance of peace, the President asserted, by preventing any attempt of the Axis triumvirate to rearm.

F. D. Offers No New Social Security Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (INS)—President Roosevelt failed to call for a specific Social Security program in his state of the Union message to Congress today, but he made it clear he regards "freedom from want" a vital war and post-war objective.

The absence of a specific call for enactment of new Social Security legislation was viewed as at least a partial victory for congressional opponents of such a program at this time. But Mr. Roosevelt balanced this portion of his speech by saying:

"I have been told that this is no time to speak of a better America after the war. I am told it is a grave error on my part.

"I dissent."

South Boston Man Held in Wife Stabbing

George E. Paris, 21, a rigger, of West Fourth st., South Boston, remembers stabbing his wife, Helen, 21, but "if he stabbed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Urbanowicz, 44, he doesn't remember it, and didn't intend to do so."

This was his statement today, according to police, when he was arraigned in South Boston court on charges of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon and with intent to kill.

Paris said he came home from work "with a few beers aboard" and an argument followed. The case was continued until Jan. 21. Paris was held under $5000 bail.

There are two children—a three-months old boy, and a two-year old daughter.

Girl Welder and Electrician at Shipyard . . .

By MARCIA NELSON

Exigencies of war and the demand for more and more fighting ships has shattered tradition at the George Lawley and Sons Corp. shipyard at Neponset by forcing employment of women welders and electrical workers.

Never before in the firm's 76 years of producing cup-winning yachts had a woman worked in the famed yard. But this is WAR and women must work while men go to the fighting fronts.

It is an incongruous place in which to find women working. The low, sprawly, drab-gray buildings are pared down to the barest necessities for smooth-running efficiency and the men workers are bemused at the sight of sweatered beauties toiling in the midst of blow torches, terrific din and dusty benches.

The yards already have two Navy E's and are proud that this is the third war in which they have converted from the building of pleasure boats to war crafts.

The girls have a room to themselves for rest and lunch periods and for the first time there is a mirror in the Yards. They must wear slacks, but there is no other restrictions on their attire. Most of them wear sweaters, glamour bobs, nail polish, plucked eyebrows, lipsticks and even rings.

One of them—Mary Maiolino of East Boston—a lady welder now at the trade—weighs only 98 pounds. She was a typist in the Department of Justice but got bored with that and now can push fairly heavy stuff around as easily as hitting typewriter keys.

Another welder, Angelina Provenzano of South Boston, was making men's dress shirts, but now prefers to make boats for men.

The Yard is also taking on inexperienced girls and teaches them to work on electrical assembly. Betty Nolan of Wollaston, a hostess in a restaurant, was among the first selected for this work. Her best beau is a sailor so she wants to build boats to help him win the war. Catharine McDonough of Dorchester was working at machine embroidery but shifted to defense work when her boy friend became a soldier.

All the girls take their work very seriously and are working out fine according to Edward Whiting, vice-president and general manager of the Yards and William Eaton, personnel director.

We'll Do Our Best

SUSPENSION of pleasure driving was to be expected under the present petroleum products situation in the East.

There is little doubt that some holders of A, B and C gasoline ration cards have been driving for purposes other than real necessity.

This is a restriction the public will accept in good grace and in good conscience, without too much grumbling about inefficiency that brought about the condition requiring it.

There is nothing to be gained now in reviving blunders. The chief consideration is an adequate supply of oil and gasoline to meet our military requirements and to keep us reasonably warm.

We need not and should not be stay-at-homes merely because we are not permitted to drive to theaters, restaurants and other places of amusement.

There is no need of holing up like a lot of woodchucks.

There is still rail, bus and taxicab transportation, and Hank's mare is developing a startling comeback.

This is not an order to forego the pleasure one finds at the movies, or the night clubs and restaurants, or at the hockey and basketball games, or in gatherings at the homes of friends.

It is merely an order forbidding use of the automobile to those ends.

The government is anxious that public morale be kept up and relaxation and entertainment are necessary for morale.

As to what constitutes pleasure driving and what does not we believe the individual conscience will supply the best answer. Where it fails to offer a satisfactory one, public opinion will probably supply the only correction necessary.

We are definitely of the opinion that driving to church, when other transportation is not available, should continue to be permitted. Religion is a necessity to the American way of life.

OUR FIGHTING MEN need books—good ones—and it should be a privilege and a pleasure for all of us still at home to supply them.

In the interest of victory and happier soldiers, sailors and merchant seamen we ought to go through our librarjes and select the best and most interesting volumes for the current Book Campaign sponsored by President Roosevelt, the American Library Association, Red Cross and U. S. O.

Local libraries are acting as receiving and sorting centers, and they can be reached easily by all donors.

Reading is mental food for the man thousands of miles away from home. It keeps his mind off his troubles. It is the greatest "escape" ever invented by man.

As Benjamin DeCasseres has eloquently said, "a book is a mind in ink. Books have made history and changed the lives of millions of persons. The Bible has influenced more individuals in the last 2000 years than all the statesmen and military leaders combined. The 'Principia' of Sir Isaac Newton, which laid down the laws of universal gravitation, revolutionized the physics of the universe. The 'Social Contract' of Rousseau is generally credited with bringing about the French Revolution. Thomas Paine's 'Common Sense,' written some months before the 'Declaration of Independence,' gave the final fillip to the American struggle for freedom."

We urge every reader to give our splendid fighting men the entertainment and enlightenment of good books, not tomorrow or next week, but TODAY.

The campaign cannot be successful unless every American participates in this highly commendable gesture in behalf of the boys who are carrying the torch of liberty into the darkest corners of the world.

DR. A. LAWRENCE LOWELL, president emeritus of Harvard University, who died yesterday in his 87th year, was one of America's greatest men.

In this illustrious Massachusetts son were centered the spirit of progress and the capacity for growth and development which had distinguished his eminent New England ancestors.

The fortunate combination enabled him to impart to education the vision and foresight which the older Lowells had previously lent to business and industry.

When Dr. Lowell succeeded Dr. Charles W. Eliot as head of Harvard the institution had 3800 students and endowments of $22,000,000.

When he retired 21 years later, the enrollment had been more than doubled and the endowments raised to the impressive total of $123,415,000.

But statistics can never be regarded as Dr. Lowell's best tribute. More worth while than mere physical expansion were the educational changes, including the marvelously enriched academic atmosphere of the university, which he fostered and carried forward to perfection during the years of his presidency.

There will be many monuments raised to Dr. Lowell, but none we venture to predict will ever eclipse his own accomplishments.

All the world's a stage, a show
Then learn thy part
With all thy heart
Or bear the burden of thy woe.
—PALLADAS.

"ALL THE WORLD'S a stage" is a saying generally credited to Shakespeare. However, Palladas, Greek epigrammatist, said it 1100 years before Shakespeare was born . . . The prophet Nostradamus predicted the current European war would end in Turkey . . . John Howard Payne, the American, who wrote "Home, Sweet Home" was buried in Tunis for 31 years before his remains were brought back to his native land . . . In World War I, 8,451,595 men were killed and 21,099,935 were wounded. Way things are going now it seems there will be even more men killed and wounded in this war. The Germans have had the most casualties so far.

SAYS HE: "Take that fellow who wrote you saying he knew all about how to handle a wife," writes a Detroiter. "I mean the man who said a husband was a chump to turn his pay check over to his wife. That fellow is out of step with the times. He is thinking of bygone days. If you don't give your wife your pay check these days she will go out and get herself a job as welder and have a pay check of her own. A wife with a pay check of her own is very difficult to handle. I know this from experience. And how!"

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Now take the case of a date where one of the people concerned does not show up on time. How long should the other person wait? According to the experts if the one waiting is a man he should wait 20 minutes for the lady; no more, no less. A woman should not wait more than 10 minutes for a man . . . We get a better idea of the effect of the rubber shortage on this country when we consider that before the war one factory used rubber in 30,000 different articles . . . Michael Arlen profited to the extent of over $500,000 from his novel "The Green Hat," which was made into a play starring Kathrine Cornell and a film starring Greta Garbo. Mr. Arlen, whose real name is Dikran Kouyoumdjean, is still around but doesn't seem to be doing much writing lately.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Have you ever smoked a pipe? A—Yes, indeed. I have even smoked clay and corncob pipes. But I like cigars better . . . Q—Have just been arguing with a fellow who appeared for 30 years on the vaudeville stage and I claim he doesn't yet know how to pronounce vaudeville as he does so with three syllables. How is it pronounced? A—There are only two syllables in vaudeville. It is properly pronounced "vodvil." . . . Q—Why do they shoot horses instead of giving them gas or using some other more humane method? A—It is claimed the most humane method of destroying a horse is by shooting it in the forehead . . . Q—Please do a southpaw a favor by naming six very famous men who were left-handed. A—Haven't much information as to left-handed celebrities except baseball players. Offhand, can only say that Michaelangelo was left-handed. So was President James A. Garfield. I believe Garfield is the only southpaw to have been President of the United States.

William Powell. Has been a film actor for 21 years and is still going very strong. That's a very good record. However, that of Richard Dix is a little better. Dix has been in the films 25 years and has been a star for 21 years . . . "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons. Genial race horse trainer. He was born at Sheepshead Bay, L. I., in the vicinity of what was once America's greatest race track. I saw my first horse race at Sheepshead Bay. "Mr. Fitz" still lives at Sheepshead Bay which, in case you don't know, is not very far from Coney Island. It is a place where the fishing is wonderful and the clam chowder is the best in the world. What is called "Coney Island clam chowder" should really be called "Sheepshead Bay clam chowder.

ASIDES: Ninety per cent of stenographers are women, but a man, Charles Swemston, holds the record for taking and accurately transcribing dictation. Mr. Swemston took dictation at the rate of 282 words a minute. The average efficient feminine stenographer can take dictation at the rate of 120 words a minute. The demand is now so great that the federal government only asks that a stenographer be able to take dictation at rate of 80 words a minute .

VISITS HISTORIC UNIVERSITY AT SYRACUSE, NEW YORK

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK CITY, WEDNESDAY—When I stepped off the train in Syracuse, N. Y., yesterday morning, I went directly to the Onondaga Hotel, which is associated in my mind with so many state conventions and meetings of various kinds that I always feel I am in familiar surroundings. A friend of mine came to breakfast with me, and at 10 o'clock Dean Eunice Hilton and Mrs. Tolley, the wife of the new chancellor of Syracuse University, called for me.

I devoted the morning to the distaff side of the university. There are some 2000 girl students, so my first talk was to them. From 11 to 12 I talked to a class made up in part of undergraduates and in part of graduate students. My topic was on the responsibility of women in the post-war period.

MRS. ROOSEVELT

After a brief conference with the press, I attended a luncheon of the faculty women and wives of men on the faculty. During the luncheon word came that all the trains were delayed, and we began the usual fruitless efforts to discover whether some train would come through early enough to reach New York city before my evening engagement.

* * *

A GROUP OF PEOPLE met at my apartment here for some discussion, and then to hear Mr. Earl Robinson play his new Lincoln composition, which impressed me so much when he came to Washington to play it for us. Needless to say, the train was very late coming into Syracuse, and was later as we progressed into Albany, and finally down the Hudson river.

I was glad I had arranged for a second hostess to welcome my guests, though I did some worrying as to what was happening. I really enjoyed the trip down and had a pleasant talk with a young naval officer while I ate my evening meal.

* * *

HE WAS RETURNING to duty and had said good-by to his wife and small child and his last leave before shipping out. He was wondering whether these last few days didn't make it harder to face the final parting.

I sometimes wonder myself, and yet I think that in retrospect a man will go over and over each detail of the visit, and it may help him through some lonely hours later on.

* * *

I REACHED my apartment in time to hear Mr. Robinson sing and play, and I found that the impression made by the Lincoln composition was even greater on second hearing.

I am off in a few minutes to do a recording and a variety of errands and to attend several meetings during the day.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7—Is there any truth to the report that Greer Garson, unhappy over her broken romance with Richard Ney, will return to England on completion of her next picture? . . . Isn't there a shake-up brewing in the Department of Agriculture? . . . Is Arline Judge knitting tiny garments? . . . Will Jim Farley be a candidate for President in 1944? . . . Has one of the Andrew sisters applied to join the WAACs? . . . Do you know that Bob Hope probably will come to New York for the premiere of "They Got Me Covered?" . . . Is Governor Tom Dewey set to make a few changes in the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board? . . . Do you know that Gertie Niesen accepted a San Francisco engagement to be nearer to Lieut. Dick Dickinson, who is the winner of three Navy Flying Crosses? . . . Is it true that Ginger Rogers has commissioned Don Loper, her dancing partner in "Lady in the Dark," to design for her a wardrobe to dazzle that female star who has been making cracks about Ginger's taste?

* * *

DID YOU HEAR about the Broadwayite who visited that big crap game in New Jersey with a $10 bill—and came home with $100,000? . . . Have you heard how the Copacabana girls pooled funds and hired a secretary to handle their fan mail since their pictures appeared in a magazine's layout? . . . Aren't you dying to hear Duke Ellington's new composition, "Black, Brown and Beige," which he'll debut at Carnegie Hall on Jan. 23—and do you think it'll be another "Rhapsody in Blue"? . . . Have you heard any leg-weary doughboy comment on composer Sigmund Romberg's widely-quoted theory that no marching songs have come out of this war because nobody does any marching? . . . Is it true that Hedy Lamarr never realized how much she cared for John Howard until he left for Cornell to study for his Navy braid—and that now she writes to him all the time?

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

THE LADY WITH THE BONA-FIDE TITLE who enlivened the Boston scene a half-dozen years ago, making it the more melodic at the same time by forming an American Legion Glee Club, is in Boston today on a new mission . . . Countess Elektra Rozanska (to identify her specifically) is bent on making "Over There" the official U. S. Army song . . . Her crusade is partly in tribute to the memory of the late George M. Cohan, although in one of his last letters before his fatal illness George had expressed the hope that the famous song he composed for World War I would never be popular again.

EVEN THEN—WITH WAR THREATENING—Countess Rozanksa was busying herself in behalf of "Over There's" official status . . . "My boys of the glee club cherished 'Over There' almost as fondly as they loved the National Anthem," said the Countess. "Mr. Cohan wrote me a friendly little note before Pearl Harbor in which he prayed that the song would never be needed again" . . . George's letter said, in part: "When the bands strike up 'Over There' again I'll be sad because that will mean one thing only — war. I pray with all my heart that that time never comes" . . But the time came, of course . . . What brought Cuontess Rozanska to Boston? . . . She said she knew enough about politics to realize that she would make more headway working through the "loyal opposition."

"I HAVE BEEN TALKING with friends of Republican Leader Joe Martin of North Attleboro . . . I have authoritative letters of introduction to him . . . I am going to ask the Attleboro politician to plead with Secretary of War Stimson to make 'Over There' the Army's official song . . . I have thousands and thousands, including the entire membership of my old Legion Glee Club, in back of me . . ." The Countess made known that 35 of the legion singers she once led and trained called on her in her first day in town . . . The Countess has been living in Detroit . . . But her heart belongs to Boston . . . Nor has she inaugurated an American Legion glee club in the motor city . . . That is of the past, a past she enjoys recalling.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Gloria Swanson and Peggy Hangarter were comparing feathers . . . Gloria's feathers were a pair of black plumes and together they made a hat . . . Peggy's feathers were a sprinkle of white in her lustrous black hair . . . For weeks, Miss Hangarter has been ornamenting her coiffure with feathers, changing her headdress each night as she sings at the Music Box . . . The novelty has caught on in Boston, too . . . The stylists are giving the Newton girl, one of the best-dressed kids in the state, credit for starting something.

A NEW STAR WILL be born in New York tonight, if we may be permitted a prediction . . . His name is Bill Johnson . . . Bill sings the leading role opposite Ethel Merman in "Something For the Boys" . . . But Boston really discovered him three times, and in this unusual situation rests an explanation of the great importance of a singer's material . . . Bill sang at Steuben's Vienna Room for awhile, and although he was idolized by the spot's regular patrons, his fame somehow didn't emerge beyond the popular restaurant's four walls.

IN EDDIE CANTOR'S "Banjo Eyes," Mr. Johnson sang the leading role . . . It was such an undistinguished part, an dthe music was so ordinary, that nothing much happened . . . The case of Juvenile Johnson and "Something For the oys" is something else again . . . Cole Porter hasn't written a better score since "Anything Goes," and Bill sings three of the tunes . . . And Dorothy and Herbert Fields haven't written a better libretto since they wrote "Let's Face It" . . . Bill is favored in this department very much too . . . So watch for the "raves" from the New York critics on Bill Johnson as "Rocky Fulton." . . . And when some fortunate motion picture studio snaps him up, don't fail to remember that we told you so as definitely as this.

THE TWO HANDSOME young men squiring Gloria Swanson at Ruby Foo's early today were Lucien Self, and Douglas Gregory, of "Spring Again" . . . Lucien is stage manager of the show . . . As for Mr. Gregory . . . . We referred to him a few columns ago as "the most handsome actor on the stage" . . . Perhaps we were too dogmatic . . . At least three letters from readers would indicate, one of them sarcastically, that our presumption is no less than tremendous in setting up as an authority on a gentleman's "looks" . . . We can cite a telephone operator at Doug's hotel who sighed: "Ooh, he's handsome. And so manly" . . . And at least six young women have demanded his identity in the few occasions we have been out with him.

LIEUT. BENEDICT FITZGERALD, the young Boston lawyer who earned his degree while working as a camera man for this paper and at the same time learning to fly as a private pilot, is on furlough with his family in Cambridge for a few days . . . The Cambridge lieutenant is testing planes for the Navy . . . A remaining course in acrobatic flying will finish Ben's curriculum as a student.

MARLENE'S DAUGHTER WINS CHANCE FOR FILM FAME

By Louella O. Parsons

Copyright, 1943, by International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7—No stopping Marlene Dietrich's 17-year-old daughter, Maria Manton. The girl has the most driving ambition of any youngster in town—and now she's stepping from the Max Reinhardt Theater into the movies. Dr. Eugene Frencke has signed Maria for the second femme lead with Anna Sten in "The Girl From Leningrad." He gave her the contract after seeing her tear through the Tallulah Bankhead role in "The Little Foxes" in Pasadena.

There's an amusing angle to Maria's being signed opposite Anna Sten. There was a time when La Sten was supposed to be a rival of La Dietrich's. Now Anna is competing with the second generation of glamour!

SUSAN HAYWARD

At the very start of her career, Maria put her foot down firmly about trading on her mother's fame. She changed her name from Dietrich to Manton just so no one could think she was climbing to fame on her mother's reputation.

* * *

SUSAN HAYWARD put her foot down but firmly when she was handed the script of "Good Fellow." In other words, she refused to accept the lead in this movie, and Susie wasn't being temperamental either. She is entitled to a break at Paramount and if she doesn't get it there she should get it elsewhere.

For two years I've been saying that Susie deserves better roles. In "Forest Ranger" she gave Paulette Goddard plenty of competition and everytime she has had a decent part she has come through with flying colors. Helen Walker has been handed "Good Fellow," and let it be said in favor of Buddy de Sylva he saw Susie's side and has not suspended her.

* * *

WHEN IT COMES to versatility I'll put Claude Raines up against any character actor in the movies, but somehow I never thought of him as an heir to the Lon Chaney roles. Yet, I am wrong because Universal has borrowed Claude from Warners to play the Phantom in "The Phantom of the Opera."

That was one of the late Lon Chaney's favorite roles. He really made the Phantom a horror, for Lon never went into the frightening characters halfway—he put all the chills possible into their creation.

Nelson Eddy and Susanne Foster have the top singing roles in what promises to be Universal's most expensive 1943 movie.

WHEN JUSTICE FRANK MURPHY was here the last time he talked to Anita Loos about a fascinating story that he has of a Filipino princess which he intends to write in collaboration with Anita Loos when he has time.

Before Judge Murphy became a power in Washington, he was governor-general of the Philippines and he knows that country as few people do.

With the sympathy as it is now for the brave Filipinos, many of whom risked their lives for our country, this would be a most timely story.

AND NOW a few answers to our correspondents . . . Nathan Weir, Brooklyn, writes: "How could you just barely mention in passing Ronald Colman's superlative performance in 'Random Harvest' on your list of best performances? Mr. Colman's interpretation of the shell-shocked soldier is head and shoulders above all male performances of the year" . . . "Happy New Year —you give me a pain" is the puzzling greeting from Bertha Spitzel. "The best all-around actor in Hollywood in 1942 or any other year is Humphrey Bogart and all you can hand him is a neat brushoff for 'Across the Pacific.'" There you are wrong—I think Bogey is swell and I said so . . . "I was broken-hearted to find Bing Crosby's name among the least co-operative actors of the year, as voted by the Women's Press Club of Hollywood," writes Mrs. Ava Marshall, who proudly describes herself as 72 years of age. "I went to Mr. Crosby one day and spoke to him and he was just lovely to me and introduced me to Mrs. Crosby. I am sure the ladies of the Press Club are very much mistaken about him."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: The John Garfields have dated the stork for July; Groucho Marx has discovered Dale Foster and this time he isn't clowning; Freddie Bartholomew, can you believe it, reports for Army duty next Tuesday. He is only 18; Helen Hart, sister of Bob Sterling, will wed Bob Fulstone, one of young Sterling's fellow cadets at Santa Ana; Phil Reed, who gave Ginger Rogers such a rush, is now whispering sweet nothings in Helen Vinson's ear; Wowie! Did John Loder fall for Hedy Lamarr when they were introduced at The Players? Richard Whorf, who underwent a double operation is much improved.

Fashion

IF YOU'RE GOING TO KEEP HOUSE in an "efficiency" in Florida . . . or an adobe number in Texas, like so many other service wives who've uprooted themselves to follow their men . . . you'll find one of your most useful frocks in the "winter" months to be fine, sheer wool in pastels. Edith Fall designed this one, and made it in beige wool, with dressmaker touches in scalloped pockets and bodice trim. Both are perpendicular for a slimming effect, and further such devices are the loose bracelet length sleeves, rolled collar which continued hemward in a concealed closing. The belt is studded with gold disks. New rainbow bright shades of aqua, yellow, gold, and red are to be had, also wine and two shades of dark blue.—ANNICE BRINK.

TIME TO BUY CAREFULLY: AVOID HIT-OR-MISS METHOD

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THIS coming spring it is going to be more important than ever not to make any mistakes in picking your clothes. Because there are going to be less things to pick from, a mistake may have to be worn, and that's just too bad for you.

One of the surest ways to guard against these errors, I think, is to get a picture of the whole costume in your mind before you set out to buy anything. If you think only of your face when you go out to buy a hat, you may find that your head goes not at all well with the rest of you, and this isn't going to make you or anybody who sees you happy. The same is true of a blouse to wear with a suit, or a suit to wear with a coat, a dress, or anything else.

It is important to think of the picture of yourself as you want to look, as I remarked before, and then buy only the things that fit into that picture, to perfection. This takes some effort, I know, but you can't afford to use the hit or miss method this year when shortages may leave you without a chance to make changes, or to correct your mistakes.

You Needn't Sacrifice Vitamin Energy

Calavo Pears Pinch-Hit for Meat

By MARTHA LEE

THE CALAVO HARVEST which promises to give us an abundance of this extra good meat-extender with its vitamin energy and mineral values, comes at just the right time to take care of those extra calories that help out the rationed foods in making up a well-balanced diet.

The food energy values of avocados are found in their fruit oil and calavo pears are sure to be high in this important element. Strangely enough, the amino acid values in the fruit are the same as those in the casein of milk, which gives them added significance.

For those who are just making the acquaintance of this luscious tropical fruit which has grown to amazing importance in the United States in the past decade, a warning might not be misplaced. Because the fruit is shaped like a pear do not expect it to taste like a pear. The flavor of the calavo is unique. There is a mellow nutlike blandness that is unlike any other fruit or food. This mellowness is of great advantage because it allows endless adaptability, a great help these days.

This Lend-Lease Salad is an example of a simple recipe that looks and tastes luxurious, and makes a little meat go a long way.

CALAVO LEND-LEASE SALAD

Small calavo pears
Lemon juice
Salt
Finely shredded salad greens
French dressing
Strips of prepared crab, fish, chicken, turkey, veal or lamb
Mayonnaise

Cut a slice from both ends of each calavo thick enough to reach seed cavity. Force seed through larger end. Remove skin from fruit and sprinkle fruit with lemon juice and salt. Place salad greens, previously dressed with French dressing in mounds on salad plates. Place calavo cylinders over salad greens. Arrange strips of crab, fish, chicken, turkey, veal or lamb in top of each calavo. Garnish with mayonnaise.

Here's a splendid gelatin ring mold of winter character, made with the red and green of diced beets and diced calavo as predominating ingredients. Larger than usual servings of this substantial salad provide sufficient food value to permit its service as the main course of informal suppers. That's a meal that's most apt to be short on meat and one when the mineral and vitamin wealth and food energy values of the calavo are particularly welcome. Serve this salad with hot corn bread sticks and ripe olives. Add dessert and a hot beverage for all the food needed for a winter evening's refreshment.

CALAVO WINTER RING MOLD

1 household size pkg. lime-flavored gelatin
1¾ cups hot water
1 cup diced calavo
3 tbsp. lemon juice
Salt
1 tbsp. finely minced onion
1-3 cup diced well-drained pickled beets
Salad greens
Dressing

Pour water over gelatin and stir to dissolve gelatin. Chill until thick but not firm. To prepare calavo, cut into halves lengthwise and remove seed and skin. Dice fruit, and add lemon juice, and a sprinkling of salt. Combine with minced onion, and pickled beets; add to gelatin and blend lightly. Pour into a ring mold and chill until firm. Unmold onto serving plate garnished with salad greens. Serve with desired dressing. Makes 6 or more servings.

CALAVO Lend-Lease Salad is but one of many delightful ways to extend meat servings.

Beauty

A Cold Wave You'll Welcome!

By ARLINE GOULD

YOU PROBABLY have an inclination to run if anyone even mentions the word "cold" . . . to you . . . what with such unhappy mental associations as oil shortages, sniffles, and shivers. But even in this frigid midwinter, 1943, a cold wave is a welcome thing . . . because it is, in this instance, a cold ray machineless permanent wave which is hanging up new records of speed, efficiency, comfort, and beautifully natural permanent waves. It uses no heat, no metals, no machine.

It's new to Boston . . . and new hope to those with "problem" hair . . . the wispy, thin kind that's referred to as baby hair, or locks which have been over-permanented or bleached. Though by no means should you let down on reconditioning care, this is a method which can do very well without depending on a long and expensive course of treatments preceding it.

However, you needn't have problem hair to discover the comfort and the so-natural wave that the "cold wave" gives . . . they say it is one permanent which may be set into any variety of styles, and therefore it is easy to handle at home . . . in other words, you can swirl it high in the evening (providing the set is thus designed) and wear it low in the daytime, with a mere twist of the wrist.

Wooden winding rods and wooden clips take the place of the shining metallic things to which you've become accustomed.

The hair is first wound in very small sections, close to the scalp (which is wonderful for service hair cuts) and then the special chemical is sprayed over the wound-up hair.

With no tied-up, heavy head feeling, the permanent proceeds with all speed through shampoo and set. And there you are, with a permanent which looks softly, naturally curly and full of body the first day.

To learn about this new "cold ray machineless wave," phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—You may well feel there's not much use in resorting to such glamour tricks as this . . . Radio Actress Renee Terry sprays her hair with flower scent . . . if your hair doesn't "take" a successful, fluffy-soft permanent. Today Arline Gould has good news for problem or normal hair, in a cold wave permanent which has just arrived.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THERE ARE 17 married couples living in the Ben P. P. Moseley house on Commonwealth ave.

This exclusive inside dope given us by the Moseley's attractive and charming post deb daughter, Ellen, also reveals that the house has only five bedrooms.

This serious crowding of living conditions (three couples to a room) is not the result of lack of fuel or scarcity of housing for defense workers. But don't get excited. All the couples are love birds except Mr. and Mrs. Moseley (and this is no reflection upon the quality of their affection). Yes, literally love birds—the kind that live in little cages and share perches (the wooden variety, not fish) together.

Mrs. Moseley's unusual hobby of filling her home with love birds began last winter when she and Ellen were each presented with a pair. Since then they have bought additional couples and had the fun of watching seven baby birds hatched in their own home till now the collection numbers 32 birds.

* * *

THE LITTLE FEATHERED friends present a kaleidoscope of color in their cages in a sunny bay window of Mrs. Moseley's boudoir. They are yellow, green, pale blue, gray and some are all white. "They usually all chirp at once when the phone rings" Ellen told us," which makes it difficult to hear the person on the other end of the line. In the summer we keep them outdoors on the farm in Ipswich."

ELLEN MOSELEY, daughter of Mrs. Ben P. P. Moseley, whose hobby is raising love birds.

So far the ration problem has not affected the birds' menu. While most dog lovers are patiently coaxing Rover to eat substitutes for the succulent beef bone he used to relish, the Moseleys are still able to obtain the small amounts of chickweed and bird seed it takes to keep their pets plump and chirping.

Last week when the family moved back to town from their hilltop estate in Ipswich, Ellen brought all 32 birds in the back of the car together with luggage.

A couple of years ago Ellen had another interesting hobby which turned out to be very practical. She bought some chinchilla bunnies in Ipswich, raised them to be beautiful rabbits and had the fur made up into a long stole to wear with evening gowns. She had always wanted a chinchilla, but knew she couldn't afford the real thing, which is fabulously expensive. So, being a resourceful young lady, she hit on the idea of raising the rabbits to produce the fur herself for herself.

'Ravaged Earth,' Record of Jap Atrocities, at Majestic Soon

From the New York Journal-American

If ever there was a film to stir any lethargic American from his armchair and pitch him headlong into the civilized world's war effort against the jackals of Japan, it's "Ravaged Earth." (Editor's note—The film is due at the Majestic here on Jan. 16.)

"RAVAGED EARTH"—Just one more vignette proving the enormous inhumanity and barbarity of the men of Nippon is this scene from Mark L. Moody's unforgettable record to what happens to human beings when a peaceful nation is attacked. The film is due at the Majestic on Jan. 18.

"Ravaged Earth" is a compilation of motion pictures taken by Mark L. Moody, American businessman in China, just before and during the outrageous Japanese attacks on Shanghai, Soochow and Nanking. It tells the story of what Japan stands for better than any words ever could. It tells, in inescapable terms, the story of what it would mean to America NOT to win this war. Go to see it!!

"Ravaged Earth" is a story of slaughter—wanton, inhuman, brutal slaughter of an unarmed, helpless, almost unresisting people by the most bestial race of marauders yet to put its bloody thumbprint on the pages of history. It will appall you. It will make you sick right down to the core.

In "Ravaged Earth" you first will see the attack on Shanghai, the pitiful plight of the Chinese populace mercilessly bombed from the air by unopposed Japanese flyers, relentlessly scourged by big-gun fire from the warships in the harbor and ruthlessly shot down by the invading land forces under the shameful flag of the land of the Rising Sun.

You will see atrocities that otherwise would be beyond your ability to comprehend. You will see pictures of victims of torture and lust; grandmothers, mothers, women and children. You will see little children, horribly mutilated by the soldiers of Hirohito.

Go to see "Ravaged Earth" and get mad. And you will realize that there is no tolerance in the world so wide that in it there could be excuse for such people as the race responsible for these things.

Go to see "Ravaged Earth!"

Mop Up at Trans-Lux

By HARRIS MORGAN

The Dead End Kids, who would seem to be committed to the film policy of making Humphrey Bogart look like a sissy, are presently kicking up the traces on Trans-Lux screen in company with those other junior buddies, the Little Tough Guys.

The vehicle for their collective juvenile delinquency is Universal's bluntly tagged "Mug Town." If you, too, have found the morbid off-the-reservation moping of these assorted smallfry hoodlums a touch tedious of late, the news that there is plenty of time for comedy in the "Mug Town" unreeling may whet your interest anew.

The story has to do with the turn in the Dead Enders' unsavory young lives, when run out of town. Steve is killed.

The lads meet the dead boy's mother, Virginia Brissac, who gives Tommy a job in the garage she owns jointly with Jed Prouty. The other three boys are employed selling magazine subscriptions. They swap one for a jalopy, go nightclubbing and overhear the dead Steve's older brother, Don, discussing with a stranger a plan to use Tommy for a fall guy in the next hijacking.

Don, played by Dick Hogan, it develops, is in the "hot" furs racket and cleaning up. The Kids and the Guys start a little cleaning-up job on their own, are briefly criminally involved themselves but, eventually, cleared and lauded, go home to Steve's mother and try to redeem her erring boy.

Woody Herman's Orchestra Heads New RKO Boston Bill

Woody Herman, at 27, is right up there on top as one of the youngest and most able of the band leaders. Today, he and his talented musical organization begin a week's engagement on the RKO-Boston stage.

Included in the outfit are the charming Carolyn Grey, singer, and Billie Rogers, who is known to countless of the band's devotees as "the girl with the horn" and who sings as well as plays the trumpet. Others are Pat Henning, Rollo and Verna Pickert and Paul Sydell and Spotty.

CAROLYN GREY

The film attraction for the week is "Seven Miles From Alcatraz," with James Craig and Bonita Granville in a plot about two convicts who escape from Alcatraz, meet up with Nazi agents and eventually return to the prison camp. Cliff Edwards and Frank Jenks are in supporting roles.

"Springtime In The Rockies," technicolored showcase for Betty Grable and Carmen Miranda, continues merrily another week on the Metropolitan screen.

In addition to the gamsome Grable and the mettlesome Miranda, the 20th Century Fox musical boasts John Payne, a favorite leading man with the country's fans, and Harry James and his slick orchestra.

Then, too, there is the tall, dark and handsome Cesar Romero. Edward Everett Horton, who'll be making a personal appearance at the Colonial at the end of the month in that hardy perennial, "Springtime for Henry," and long-legged Charlotte Greenwood. The action takes place against the background of beautiful Lake Louise. "I Had the Craziest Dream" and "Pan-American Jubilee" are the musical Gordon-Revel hit tunes.

BETTY GRABLE

The co-feature is "The Man in the Trunk," with Lynne Roberts, George Holmes and Raymond Walburn.

British Seek Entertainers

Fifteen hundred more British entertainers . . . both men and women . . . are wanted by the British government to volunteer for service for the duration through its department of national service entertainment which is already providing over 3700 performances weekly to army camps, factories, etc., in the British Isles alone.

The call for entertainers is made through the New York E. N. S. A. committee, headed by Gilbert Miller, chairman; Gertrude Lawrence, president; John Golden, Vinton Freedley, John C. Wilson and Forrest Haring.

Acceptable volunteers will be provided with subsistance, small weekly salaries and round-trip passages by the British government. They will not be exempt from the operation of the British military service act but, due to the importance attached to this work by the government, the department of N. S. E. will apply for their deferment. Volunteers may make application at the New York E. N. S. A. Committee office, 137 W. 48th st.

'Road to Morocco' Tops Esquire Bill

The M. & P. Esquire, Boston's intimate movie house on Huntington ave., opposite Symphony Hall, continues its two-major-hits-at-popular-prices policy with tomorrow's bill . . . "The Road to Morocco," starring Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour in one of this trio's maddest adventures to date, and "Henry Aldrich, Editor," featuring Jimmy Lydon.

"THE PALM BEACH STORY," due on the Scollay and Modern screens tomorrow, owes much of its comedy to Rudy Vallee. He impersonates "the richest man in the world" whose eccentric generosity Claudette Colbert finds highly profitable.

'Thunder Birds' Hit For Uptown Screen

Uptown's new bill for tomorrow features "Thunder Birds," the technicolor drama with Gene Tierney, Preston Foster and John Sutton. The companion picture will be "Moonlight in Havana."

MILK TRAIN HOME, GIRLS!

Demonstrating their willingness to undergo inconvenience to save gasoline as well as railroad seats for daytime military passengers, 30 Cape Cod members of the Massachusetts Women's Defense Corps took the 3 a. m. milk train home today after attending the annual Defense Corps banquet in Boston.

More than 2000 members of the Bay State's "women militia" thronged the Copley Plaza for the meeting. They came from all parts of the state and various delegations, like the Cape Cod group, made the best use of available facilities to be present.

They heard their commandant, Col. Natalie Hays Hammond, outline a new and enlarged program of activities for the coming year.

The Massachusetts corps is the first state-authorized unit of uniformed women in the country. Col. Hammond praised her listeners for subordinating personal disagreements or whims in cooperating to make the organization ready for instant service to the state in the event of any emergency.

RAF Using 'Slow Bomb' Against Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—The censors permitted the first mention today of the RAF's use of a new 2000-pound "slow-bomb" in several recent raids on Germany.

With a secret braking device, it falls at reduced speed and on impact spreads destruction rather than dissipating most of its power downward.

2 Sons in South Seas Keep Holiday Reunion

The war has scattered members of the Patterson and Fraher families to far away corners of the world, but it failed to disrupt completely their annual custom of having Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner together.

Patrolman Arthur Fraher, of Russell st., Charlestown, radio dispatcher at police headquarters, learned today of the holiday reunion of the younger members of the two families in a letter from his son Pvt. Arthur V. Fraher, Jr., now in the South Pacific.

The Frahers and the family of the late Lieut. Melvin Patterson, of Bellevue st., West Roxbury, have for years dined together on Thanksgiving and Christmas.

In Dec. 1941 John Patterson, 18, enlisted as a private in the Marines and six months later young Fraher joined the Army.

Though separated the boys corresponded until both were sent overseas—to the South Pacific. In New Caledonia young Fraher, met a group of Marines wearing the insignia of Patterson's outfit. Thus the boys had a joyful reunion, and continued the family custom of having their holiday dinners together.

The home front did not fare so well, Patrolman Fraher disclosed. His wife, Esther, joined the WAAC's several months ago and spent Christmas in Des Moines, Ia., where she is attending Officer Candidate's School.

PSYCHIATRISTS WIN PRAISE IN TREATING GROVE VICTIMS

This fourth, and concluding, article of a series dealing with the mental phases of treatment given Cocoanut Grove survivors gives more amazing case histories and tells of the methods successfully employed to correct the mental maladies.

By PAULINE WARREN

It is nothing short of remarkable that due to the excellent mental as well as physical care the victims of the Cocoanut Grove received they are now back at work and so free of mental disturbance that their only feeling toward their dreadful experience is one of thankfulness for having survived.

For this the exhaustive psychiatric studies which were made of each patient at the Boston City Hospital, as well as at the Massachusetts General Hospital, can be held largely accountable.

Boston, of course, was exceedingly fortunate in having on the spot one of the greatest authorities on burns—Dr. Charles C. Lund of the Boston City Hospital.

Most of the patients treated were found to have lost their voices during the first three or four days. Many spoke with great huskiness for as long as 10 days afterwards. This was not due to fear or "shock," but to the smoke and fumes they had inhaled, it is believed by the distinguished psychiatrists who conducted the investigation. Each patient was completely cured of this condition before leaving the hospital.

Extremely few patients at first stated they would never step inside of a night club again. But even these few, on becoming wholly well, seemed to lose their dread.

Even the girl in the following case history who received burns on both legs, both arms, face and back recovered quickly and changed her mind.

Here is her record:

"Patient was at Grove with her two sisters and three men. Her sisters were injured, the men were already outside when the fire started. Patient was in ladies' room. Ran out because she heard commotion, saw flames, started toward orchestra, was inhaling fumes which gagged her. Someone knocked her down, felt people stepping on her. Next thing she remembers was Sunday morning in the hospital.

HANDS BANDAGED

"Her hands were bandaged and she felt like fighting the many doctors who were around her when she came to. Before she lost consciousness she felt: "I am going to die because of the flames, the gagging and the people stepping on me." She wondered immediately about her sisters when she came to. Now she thanks God that she is alive, does not want to think much of the incident. 'I will never go into a night club again. That is the end; not even to a movie, or I'll make sure where the exits are.'

Neurologically and intellectually no change."

Our next case history is that of a 20-year-old girl who finished business school and is a secretary. She lives with her family and her father is a painter. She suffered burns on her right arm, right shoulder and left knee.

"Patient was with girl friend, who died, and two fellows to whom she was just introduced and doesn't know their names.

"She crawled around, remembers coughing, choking and praying. Suddenly a fireman grabbed her. She had felt like dying because she couldn't breathe. It was very hot. She kept choking. Does remember the time from the ambulance ride to the hospital but the first day in the hospital was all hazy. Could not talk for a week. Sleep: had nightmares during the first week. Patient starts crying, is very upset, says whenever she closes her eyes she sees her girl friend who died, feels to be back there. In her dreams everything happened all over again. That woke her up. For the last two days no nightmares any more. 'It just wasn't my time to go and I should not think about it; I have to forget it.'

No neurological or mental disturbance."

Our next and last "case history" is that of a woman, unmarried, age about 30.

"Remembers all events before fire. Arrived at Cocoanut Grove after 9 p. m. She was drinking coffee when fire started. She remembers trying to get out. Her jacket caught on fire. She took this off. She lost consciousness and came to later on floor.

"THIS ONE'S ALIVE"

"Someone was lying on top of her. She moved her leg and heard someone say, "This one is alive." She was dragged out to street. She remembers coming to hospital in taxi. She remembers her clothes being removed. She lapsed into unconsciousness again and recovered again late that night. She was mentally clear on Sunday and remembers everything since then. Had only a superficial burn of nose, more severe burns of forearms and hands. She does not know what has happened to the other members of her party. Her companion was her fiance. She was emotionally upset for a few days but has been stable for past week.

Neurological Examination—Negative.

Sports by Jack Conway

Gas Ruling Hard Blows to Sports

SPORTS AS WE have known them in America during the past 20 years are over for the duration of the war. The lower marks reached in athletics since Pearl Harbor will not be equalled until peace has been restored.

HERBERT B. SWOPE

Transportation, as this writer pointed out early last summer, would prove the key to sports in the United States during the war. The answer in the matter of transportation was given in no mistakeable terms by the OPA in Washington when it ruled as follows:

"The presence of passenger cars at any gathering for purposes of sport or amusement will be taken as prima facie evidence that gasoline rations and tires are being dissipated needlessly and illegally."

Hialeah Park in Florida announced as soon as it learned of this ruling that it would not open its winter meeting on January 13. This was followed by the cancellation of the remainder of the Tropical Park meeting. Other race tracks will follow the lead of Hialeah and Tropical.

The Fair Grounds at New Orleans is the only hope of winter racing. It is situated in the city and it may be able to operate successful even without the aid of autos.

In New York, Herbert Bayard Swope, chairman of the New York Racing Commission, announced that he believes racing should not do anything that will interfere with the war program. This may mean that New York will decide against permitting racing in 1943.

The majority of the Maryland tracks relied entirely upon auto transportation last fall after they were denied special trains. They cannot hope to operate under the new conditions.

In an all out war, government officials are not interested in the argument that the States and Federal government receives huge taxes from racing. They declare the saving of tires and gas are more important than revenue from racing. They contend the needed money will be raised in some other way.

★ ★ ★

May Place Ban on Transportation of Horses

PRESIDENT Charles F. Adams of Suffolk Downs recently informed Governor Saltonstall there was a possibility a ban may be placed on the transportation of race horses. Such a happening, Adams said, would cause Suffolk Downs to close. The East Boston track has street car service, but it must have horses to stage a meeting.

It is unlikely that Suffolk Downs, Rockingham Park and Narragansett Park will take any immediate action on racing. They will wait for later developments and hope that the racing picture will improve. With no autos permitted to enter any of the New England tracks, it would be difficult for them to operate successfully. More than 50 per cent of the persons who have attended races in Massachusetts have gone to the tracks by auto.

★ ★ ★

Baseball Can Continue With City Parks

BASEBALL WILL be able to continue as its parks are situated in cities. Elevated and street car services will take the public to the ball games.

Extra transportation services to the games will probably be banned, but until such time as all riding in street cars, elevated trains or regular trains is banned other than for business or other necessary purposes baseball will carry on.

18-19-Year-Old Draft Ended College Sports

THE 18-19-YEAR-OLD draft ended college sports even though some of the coaches and athletic heads did not recognize it at the time. There will be games between service teams and class contests, but the big rah-rah-rah of college athletics is over until after the war. The kids who furnished the thrills in college athletics will be engaged in the fight to win the war.

Transportation conditions are unlikely to get better until the war is won. It is necessary to send fuel oil and gas thousands of miles to the American armed forces in all parts of the world. A raid of 1000 bombers requires 1,000,000 gallons of gas in addition to the thousands of gallons of oil needed to transport this gas to points where it can be poured into the tanks of the bombers.

The best thing to do to restore things to normal is to give 100 per cent aid to the war effort. There will not be many changes for the better in transportation until victory is gained.

GANSETT TO STAY SHUT UNLESS AUTO BAN LIFTS

By JACK CONWAY

Narragansett Park will call off its spring race meeting scheduled to start on April 10 if the OPA ban against using autos to go to sports and amusements is not lifted by that time, Judge James E. Dooley, president of the Rhode Island track told this writer today.

"Narragansett Park would not think of opening its spring meeting on April 10 if the OPA keeps its ban on the use of autos to race tracks," said Judge Dooley.

"We are anxious to co-operate with the government in all of its war efforts, and we would not place ourselves in a position where anone could charge us with placing possible financial gains above the desires of the government.

"We shall not make our final decision until late in March or early in April. The present ban will help relieve the fuel oil situation. The homes of our people must be kept warm, and I think we are all willing to give up riding around in autos other than on business to accomplish this end.

IMPROVEMENT POSSIBLE

"By April there may be sufficient oil reserves to permit the gas ban to be lifted. If it is lifted, Narragansett Park will operate. Otherwise it will remain closed. I think the sensible people in racing will take a similar attitude. They will wish to give their full support to the war effort.

"The acute fuel oil situation has shown the necessity for the present restrictions at this time. We cannot say now what Aril will bring forth, but as far as Narragansett Park is concerned it will accept every government ruling knowing it has been made for the best interests of all of our people. If it is necessary for us to suspend racing we shall gladly do so."

President Charles F. Adams of Suffolk Downs is en route from Chicago to Boston. It was impossible to get into communication with him to get a statement as to the plans of the East Boston track.

While Suffolk Downs has street car transportation, the government may clamp a ban on the transportation of horses. Pres. Adams recently told Governor Saltonstall of such a possibility and he declared that in such an event it would, of course, be impossible for the East Boston track to operate.

ROCK HIT BY BAN

Lou Smith of Rockingham Park also could not be reached for a statement. Rockingham Park could not hope to operate with a ban on the use of gas. It would have to close until the ruling was changed.

The closing of Tropical Park and Hialeah Park will probably be for the duration. Even though the present ban was caused by the gas ruling, it is known the military authorities are averse to racing in Florida. They do not wish what they consider possible interference with the movements of men in the armed forces.

Gov. Holland of Florida has appealed to the OPA to change its rulings to permit the use of gas in Florida for persons wishing to go to the races. It is unlikely that this request will receive serious consideration. Once the horsemen are able to get out of Florida they will refuse to return until the war is over.

Those horsemen who passed up Florida for New Orleans are happy. The Fair Grounds meeting will continue through March 6. There will be five days of racing each week, Sunday and Monday being open dates.

New Orleans Racing Unhurt by Gas Ban

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 7 (AP)—With racing blacked out elsewhere, the Fair Grounds here is in a good spot. The OPA's restrictions on automobile pleasure driving, which forced the closing of the Florida race tracks, will have little or no effect on the Fair Grounds, which is in easy walking distance of downtown New Orleans and is served by regular street car and bus lines.

JUDGE JAMES DOOLEY

However, Albin Tauzier, secretary of the State Racing Commission, pointed out that under state law racing is limited to 75 days in any one parish in a calendar year. The Fair Grounds season began Thanksgiving Day, and is scheduled to close March 6.

"The association could automatically extend its season beyond March 6 to make the full 75 days in 1943," Tauzier said, "but this would prevent opening its next season on traditional Thanksgiving Day.

"However, the law gives the state Attorney-General the right to extend the season if he sees fit. It is up to the Fair Grounds Racing and Breeders' Ass'n to make the request."

The spokesman for the association, who requested that his name not be used, said the board would meet in a day or so to determine its future policies, both as to an extended season and an increase in purses.

"I definitely feel sure that because of the situation in Florida," this spokesman said, "purses will be increased to attract more top-notch horses, such as Whirlaway, to the Fair Grounds."

MAJORS WORK ON SCHEDULES

CHICAGO, Jan. 7 (INS)—The two major league presidents, Will Harridge of the American and Ford Frick of the National, threw all their carefully prepared schedules for the 1943 season into the wastebasket today and started to work on new ones.

They were crossed up by the conference of club owners called by Baseball Commr. Kenesaw M. Landis which decided to open the season April 21 and close it Oct. 3.

The American Ass'n quickly fell in line with the majors in the meeting yesterday in Chicago. A full 154-game season was approved with the opening date April 29, 16 days later than last year, and the closing Sept. 19, a week later than in 1942. All teams will train at or near home.

The opening day will find Toledo at Indianapolis, Columbus at Louisville, Milwaukee at Minneapolis and Kansas City at St. Paul.

Swanky Golf Course Now Cow Pasture

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 7 (AP)—Fifty head of cattle are now grazing on the once-immaculate greens and fairways of the Augusta National Golf Club course—scene of the annual Masters' tournament.

"The course wasn't doing anyone a bit of good—just idle ground," explained Bobby Jones, former emperor of golf and now a captain in the Army Air Force, "so we thought we would add it to grazing lands available for the war effort." Jones laid out the course.

PICS AT PEAK FOR FALCON'S

The strongest lineup that the Olympics have iced since the departure of many of their stars to the armed forces will face the Philadelphia Falcons at the Garden on Friday and Saturday evenings when the Eastern League resumes play after almost a month of enforced idleness.

Coach Hago Harrington has reshuffled his forward walls almost beyond recognition. The starting trio will feature Ray Chaisson at left wing, Clarence Schmidt at right wing, and sturdy Ken Lundberg on the pivot.

It is the second line that will catch the "Pics" fans' eyes. Two newcomers, plus a fellow who had supposedly given up the game for the duration will form the new wave. Of course Fishy Dumond will be playing only the weekend games before returning to camp. The Cambridge fireball will patrol the left lane. At center Bill Meloche will make his initial Olympic bow. On the right lane will be Roger Bedard, Mt. St. Charles School alumnus, also making his first start in Boston livery.

Harrington plans on using Jerry Bauer at center on the third line with Hec Roussean and Bob Jeremmiah as wings.

Highlights On Skiing

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

NORTH CONWAY, N. H., Jan 7 — In full swing is the famous Eastern Slopes Ski School, where classes are being conducted on Cranmore Mt., which is wearing its white parka . . . Again heading the school is the world-renowned ski meister, Hannes Schneider, originator of the Arlberg technique . . . Hannes and his assistants have already given scores of lessons during the past two weeks, the region being well-filled with vacationists.

★ ★ ★

It was at North Conway, Saturday, Feb. 11, 1939, that this writer first had the thrill and privilege of meeting Hannes Schneider, the very day he arrived in this snow village . . . Swooping like a snow bird down Cranmore Mountain, this expert was the cynosure of all eyes that memorable day, as he gave a grand exhibition of downhill running. Although completely under control, his boards seemed to have wings as he traversed the slope in perfect Christiania turns, with plenty of "vorlage."

Hannes then knew but a smattering of English, but was able to make himself understood. "American skiing has made great progress!" he explained to us. "Everyone is very enthusiastic and anxious to learn. I am most happy to be here."

We found this expert to be a very affable and genial person. His sparkling smile was most winning and he appeared pleased with his new surroundings. There was nothing of the prima donna about this new celebrity. He was not affected, acting natural and at ease. Greeting one and all in the same likeable manner, he soon completely captivated North Conway, now his permanent home.

Boston School Sixes Lift Lid Tomorrow

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Boston schoolboys, hard hit by a lack of practice so serious that even the coaches are doubtful as to their starting lineups, will open their annual hockey conference play at the Boston Garden tomorrow afternoon with eight of the 17 schools in the circuit swinging into action in a quartet of games—starting at 2:30 p. m.

As a matter of fact, it wasn't until today that Joe McKenney, director of physical education released the winter schedule for his schools—after one of the most trying times in years.

PLENTY OF DEPTH

All in all, the schoolboys will play eight times on the Garden ice between now and Feb. 8, shifting to the Arena for a pair of sessions, then winding up at the North Station depot, Feb. 28. This quartet of games will find Brighton opening the season against Charlestown; East Boston tackling Hyde Park; English meeting Boston Trade and Dorchester tangling with Mechanic Arts.

Coach Bill Ohrenberger's Boston English will, of course, be favored to defend successfully its ice title. Coach Ohrenberger, even capitalizing on yesterday's shortage of oil to take his boys out for an all day practise session, never fails to turn up with a clever squad. Then, again, English always has the depth to keep a fresh forward line on the ice at all times.

Coach Harry Tilton will offer just the reverse with his Boston Trade squad. The technical school has been hard hit because of the lack of opportunity to skate but even more so because of the boys being sent out from school to take over defense positions. As a result, Trade will ice an entire green team of juniors and sophomores.

Of the Traders, Dom Piano, right wing, looms as one of the most promising players.

DI MAGGIO INDIGNANT ON RETIRING RUMOR

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, the central figure in numerous baseball holdout controversies, is in the thick of another argument—whether his remarks in a recent interview were properly interpreted.

The New York Yankees' outfielder returned from a Reno visit with his estranged wife, Dorothy, and their child. He telephoned sports writer friends to indignantly deny he had meant to say or infer he was quitting baseball this year.

This tempest in a teapot stemmed from a telephonic interview two nights ago with Sports Columnist Prescott Sullivan of the Examiner.

Asked if he was there trying to effect a reconciliation, Joe snapped "None of your business" but to the question "What effect has the absence of spring training in Florida likely to have on your play this season?" the baseball star reportedly declared "Spring training won't concern me this year."

Columnist Sullivan asked DiMaggio if his reply meant he was going to retire from baseball. Did Joe intend to enlist in the Army or Navy? He quoted Joe as saying "I'm not saying. You can draw your own conclusions." The columnist concluded something was on the fire.

Miami Horse Tracks Hope for Reopening

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 7 (AP)—Fifteen hundred thoroughbreds were stranded here today by the closing of the Miami race tracks, leaving owners and trainers in a quandary about what to do with animals that go right on eating even though there are no more purses to win.

The Florida racing season folded yesterday after the Office of Price Administration announced a ban on all automobile pleasure driving.

Ben Jones

One dog track—the Hollywood oval situated 18 miles north of Miami — followed suit and suspended, but others in Miami and elsewhere in the state hung on in the hope they could get by with the patronage of bettors who would ride public conveyances, or walk.

For the big racing stables, backed by wealthy sportsmen, the closing presented the alternatives of shipping horses to northern farms, sending them to New Orleans where the Fair Grounds track is operating, or stabling them here until the eastern plants are scheduled to open in the spring.

Vitally affected, along with stable employes, were more than 1000 persons who work at Miami tracks during the meetings.

The largest group of horses now in Miami is the stable of 44 Calumet Farm thoroughbreds, including the great money-winning champion Whirlaway.

Trainer Ben Jones said he would have to confer with Owner Warren Wright, now in the West, before deciding what to do with Whirlaway.

RESUMPTION SEEN

In making announcements neither Miami horse establishment closed the door on possible future operations.

"I am hopeful that the situation may clear up before long," said Tropical's Pres. Henry L. Straus at his Baltimore home, "and if this happens and there is no direct order to the contrary, we will try to run our spring meeting."

John C. Clark, president of Hialeah, declared—in reporting that the track would not open next Wednesday as scheduled:

"Hialeah Park will suspend operation until such time as there is full approval of the continuance of racing."

Governor Spessard L. Holland, vitally interested in the continuance of racing because Florida derives most of its revenue for old age pensions from taxes on the sport, held out hope that the state would be eliminated from the strictly-rationed Eastern seaboard area when a new pipeline goes into service about Feb. 1.

Despite gasoline rationing, a dearth of tourists and other wartime handicaps, Tropical had been operating at virtually a self-sustaining level since the Dec. 21 opening.

Ferrara Takes Things Easy

Tony Ferrara, New York's sensational welterweight, went through a light limbering up workout at the Kelley and Hayes gym today to rid himself of kinks from his train ride in preparation for his 10-round tussle with New England champion, George Martin, tomorrow night at the Boston Arena, as the Goodwin A. C. stages its first fistic festival of the new year.

Twenty-four rounds of preliminaries, topped off by the semi-final match between Dave "Golden Boy" Andrews, Lowell, and Buster Beaupre, Burlington, Vt., will make up the supporting card.

A pair of sixes and a four will complete the card. In the sixes, Steve Kronis, South End, will be matched with Cocky Davis, Worcester, and Bill Nappier, Roxbury, will square off against Ed Forte, Providence, R. I., while in the four, Roy Andrews, brother of Dave, will try to continue his fine start in the pro ranks at the expense of Young Blair, Burlington, Vt.

MOWERS LEADS N.H.L. GOALIES

DETROIT, Jan. 7 (AP)—Big time hockey goalies must never have heard of the rubber conservation drive because there isn't a rubber shortage in National League nets this season.

With the campaign practically at the halfway mark, Goalie Johnny Mowers of the Detroit Red Wings has seized the lead in a three-cornered fight for possession of the Georges Vezina trophy, hockey's most prized individual award that honors net-minding excellence.

The other contenders are Walter (Turk) Broda, pudgy guardian for the Toronto Maple Leafs, and Frankie Brimsek, Mr. Zero of the Boston Bruins who last year gained the award for the second time in three years.

No matter who wins, the final accounting is almost certain to be the poorest on record. In only three of 14 seasons has the winning net-minder permitted the rubber puck to slip past more than 100 times, and a year ago Brimsek won with an enormous 118 goals. The goals-against record determines the winner.

Gas Ban Seen Beneficial to Oaklawn Park

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 7 (AP)—Oaklawn Park's 30-day racing meet at Hot Springs will benefit from the shutdown of the Florida tracks as a result of OPA's ban on pleasure driving, believes Secretary Guy Freeling of the Arkansas Racing Commission.

"If the ban doesn't extend to this area, there's no question but that it will bring better horses and bigger crowds to Hot Springs," Freeling said.

"Naturally some of the Florida horses will go to the Fair Grounds but New Orleans can't handle all of them."

BOYD REJOINS HAPPY BRUINS

Irvin "Yank" Boyd has rejoined his Bruin teammates at their daily practice sessions at the Arena after being sidelined for more than two weeks because of an infected foot. He wasn't as frisky as his mates, for the leg is still giving him a little trouble while his mates are still happy over their victory at Detroit last Sunday.

It was the B's first win in eight starts, four of which resulted in ties. Yet, despite a long string without victory, they stayed in a deadlock with Toronto for the circuit top.

That win over the Wings, starting the second half of the 50-game campaign, apparently was a fine tonic. The going might have been sloppy and slumpy from here in without it. Manager Art Ross looks back on it as one of the foremost achievements by his team this season.

BRAVES, SOX SOUGHT LATER OPENING

By FRED LANE

"Baseball is no different from any other business and will have to take its ups and downs the same as everybody else. We are all in the same sack and it all reverts back to the old axiom of the survival of the fittest."

Such was President Bob Quinn's comment when questioned as to the effect the recent gasoline edict would effect baseball in Boston.

"Of course it's going to raise ructions with the out-of-town fan. But I feel that they will find other means of getting to the game.

"Just as soon as the American public, regardless of whether it is a baseball fan or not, realize we are in a war, the better off the country will be and the sooner this horrible affair will be over.

"It can't end to soon for all of us."

John Quinn and Eddie Collins, back from the recent meeting at Chicago, were a bit disappointed over the opening date of April 21 for both leagues. Both did their best to convince the other 14 magnates that the 27th would be an ideal starting date but without success.

The later start would have given both an extra week of outdoor practice which, with any break in the weather, would mean much to the prospects of both Boston clubs.

But as Quinn explained, "Since we were overruled, why we will just have to make the best of it."

The biggest problem now confronting the Braves is an indoor cage to start the training period. President Quinn has four or five sites in mind but to date had no definite word on any.

Both Collins and Quinn are hoping the Farmer's Almanac is right in predicting an early spring, and veteran weather prophets claim that the cold weather we are now experiencing is a forerunner of an early break.

The Sox and Braves have definitely decided on a three-game series, either to be played at Braves Field or Fenway Park. They have set April 17, 18 and 19 for their yearly clash.

This will perhaps be the only chance the two clubs will have to play exhibition games since the nearest major league clubs are in New York or Brooklyn. And since a game with either of those teams mean a 250-mile trip, it isn't likely they'll play.

2 MAINE SKATERS ENTER DERBY

First out-of-state honors for entry into the famed Silver Skates Derby at the Boston Garden, January 24, go to the state of Maine. Two entries have arrived from the Pine Tree section and this is the forerunner of others expected within the very near future from New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Torrance Farrell, 15-years-old, sent his blank along from Auburn, Me., and in the next mail an entry arrived from Philip L. Joy, Brunswick, Me.

These two boys will be among the hundreds seeking coveted Silver Skates Derby trophies.

GREAT STARS TO PERFORM

As the situation now stands, there will be nine classes with the possibility of a Service Men's division being added. These ten classes will provide several hours of spirited competition with plenty of excitement and laughs. But that's not the entire Derby show.

Each year the American-Record secure the finest ice talent in the world for specialties in figure skating, comedy and stunt skating to round out the ice classic. Great stars such as Vera Hruba, Megan Taylor, Ariane, Red McCarthy, Al Surrette and a host of others who are now being featured in top spots all over the country.

EIGHT DAYS REMAIN

The big thing though, is the skaters. The purpose of the Derby is to give everybody who likes to skate a chance to compete on the Garden surface. It's open to every amateur skater in New England without payment of an entry fee of any kind.

All that is urged is that you get your entries in immediately for all blanks must be post-marked by midnight, Jan. 14, to be accepted —that leaves but eight days.

Mail your blank today.

The late entries received include:
